

'Blue laws'
repeal bid
still alive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill which could do away with Ohio's Sunday "blue laws" gets a committee hearing Tuesday before the House Agriculture, Commerce and Labor Committee.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69, Maumee, was introduced because, he said, "the blue laws are unenforceable and are being totally ignored all around the state."

Galbraith introduced the same legislation in 1969, but was voted down. The measure has come to life after gathering dust since January, possibly due to the liberal mood seen among voters with their approval of the May 8 lottery amendment.

Ohio has had Sunday closing laws since 1788 when it was part of the Northwest Territory which prohibited "servile labor" during that year. In 1805, after Ohio became a state, the word "servile" was changed to "common" and the ban extended to "sporting, gaming, rioting, quarreling, hunting, horse racing, shooting and the disturbance of worship."

Repeal attempts on the law were made several times in the last decade, but defeated each time. Ohioans refused to withdraw the blue laws in a statewide question in 1962.

Galbraith said the "time is here" for a repeal. He noted the increased number of businesses remaining open on Sunday and the absence of enforcement.

In other business, Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, said he is looking for approval this week in the House Local Government and Urban Affairs Committee of his Senate-okayed impacted cities bill.

The measure would authorize municipalities under special arrangements to use private capital to wipe out slums and redevelop deteriorating urban areas.

Hall said he feels the bill can receive positive committee action Tuesday night, but admits he is concerned about its fate on the House floor.

Conservatives may oppose a portion of the bill which permits private development corporations to use the power of eminent domain to acquire land, he said.

An attempt to reach a compromise on the political battle over a bill to create a state lottery commission will occur Tuesday afternoon when a joint conference committee of the Senate and House meets.

The committee has been formed to solve the differences between the chambers on how proceeds from the lottery will be used.

An amendment approved by the voters on May 8 marked the profits for the general revenue fund.

Republicans have insisted the proceeds be used to provide more property tax relief while Democrats reportedly would like to use a portion of the money to pay off bonds to finance Vietnam War veterans' bonus.

High Court curbs integration power

WASHINGTON (AP)—An equally divided Supreme Court today affirmed a lower court order that held federal district courts powerless to cross school boundaries in pursuit of desegregation.

The decision came in a case from Richmond, Va. There was no opinion from the court and no word as to how its members voted. An equally divided court automatically affirms a lower court decision.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., a long-time member of the Richmond school board, did not take part in setting up the fourfour split.

In January of 1972, U.S. District Court Judge Robert Merhige Jr. ordered the predominantly black Richmond city school system combined with the predominantly white systems

Defiance College top honor awarded to Donald Bennett

Donald Eugene Bennett, son of Mrs. Pauline D. Sanders, 111 West St., Bloomington, was presented Defiance College's highest award, the Pilgrim Medal, at commencement exercises Sunday when he received the Bachelor of Science degree in political science cum laude (with honors).

The medal, which is awarded in bronze to a senior and in silver in the alumnus and citizen categories, has been presented to such notables as Pearl Buck, Jackie Robinson, and former President Dwight Eisenhower. Endowed in 1960 by the late Edward M. Arnos, the medal commemorates the Pilgrim qualities of reliance in self, pride in work, courage in conscience, strength in education and faith in God.

Bennett, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, has served as president of Theta Xi fraternity; resident assistant for a men's residence hall; representative to the Inter-Fraternity Council and as a member of Student Council and the President's Hosts. He played basketball two years and served as president of Alpha Chi honorary society.

Members of the committee which selected Bennett for the college's highest honor explained that he has

CIA memo links Nixon to coverup

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee was told today that former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman told CIA officials "it is the President's wish" that the CIA approach the FBI to discourage an investigation related to the Watergate case.

Richard Helms, former CIA director, confirmed to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the statement was made in a memo by his deputy director, Lt. Gen. Vernon Walters, following a meeting between Walters and acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray.

The memo was first disclosed at an open hearing by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., concerning a meeting on June 23, 1972 at the White House involvings Walters, Helms, Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

Symington said that in the memo furnished only last Saturday to the Senate Armed Services Committee, Walters reported that Haldeman turned to Walters and said, "It is the President's wish that you go to see Mr. Gray."

Helms said he was in the room but does not recall on his own whether Haldeman used the President's authority specifically.

Helms did say, however, that when instructions are from the White House chief of staff, it is assumed that it had adequate authority behind it.

Helms testified that he did not at the time know about any money that might have been "laundered" through Mexico.

He said he did not understand "to this day" why Haldeman selected Walters, rather than Helms himself, to make the approach to Gray to inform the FBI that pursuit of its investigation of the Mexican angle of the Watergate affair might jeopardize CIA covert operations in Mexico.

Helms said he himself felt no concern about such a point and tried to modify the approach to Gray in a subsequent conversation with Walters.

Helms said he told Walters it would be proper to inform the new FBI director of an operating arrangement between the CIA and the FBI that when any investigations overlapped, the other agency should be notified.

Helms said that his sole concern at the time was that the CIA should be kept out of the Watergate affair entirely.

Helms said he does not know if his reluctance to have the CIA involved in Watergate played a role in his abrupt departure as CIA chief.

He said the reasons for his departure were contained in a conversation he had with President Nixon. He said Watergate was not brought up in that conversation but that the restraints of executive privilege bar him from saying what he discussed with the President.

"Frankly, I wanted to stay as head of the agency to continue to keep it out," Helms said.

He told the committee, "I did not know" whether his refusal to cooperate with the White House in domestic affairs was responsible for his new assignment as ambassador to Iran.

The committee session was abruptly opened to the press and public after Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said news articles pointing out apparent conflicts in what Helms told the committee in February and what he now says are tantamount to "perjury."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin says it is more important for his Senate Watergate investigating committee to publicize the whole truth about the scandal "than it is to get one or two people sent to jail."

Ervin, responding to questions whether the Senate probe could impede later prosecutions, said the Justice Department could have tried cases before last November's election.

"The whole case could have been broken open long before this time and I don't think the case ought to be further delayed," the North Carolina Democrat said Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Asked about possible dangers through headlines based on hearsay testimony, Ervin said, "I don't think there can be much more effective publicity in this case than has thus far been."

"I am not sure what would have happened in this case if there hadn't been a lot of publicity."

Though the investigating committee does not resume its televised hearings until Tuesday, other Senate committees deal with aspects of the case today.

Mitchell, Stans

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans pleaded innocent today to charges of perjury, conspiracy and obstructing a federal investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco.

Mitchell, Stans, Vesco and former New Jersey Republican leader Barry D. Sears were named in a federal indictment May 10 that grew out of a secret $200,000 contribution from Vesco to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

Sears, who with Vesco was charged with conspiracy and obstruction of justice, also pleaded innocent today before U.S. District Court Judge John M. Cannella. Vesco left the country more than two months ago and subsequently ignored a subpoena.

Gold soars; dollar at new low

LONDON (AP) — Gold soared to record prices in Europe today and the U.S. dollar dropped to new lows as a result of speculation that the Watergate scandal would force President Nixon to resign.

In Zurich, gold shot to a record $113 an ounce, up $7.50 from Friday's close

in draft case

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — A jury has acquitted 17 persons of charges stemming from a raid on a draft board even though the defendants admitted participating and FBI agents caught many of them at the office.

Members of the federal court jury were not immediately available for comment on the verdict. But it was believed that testimony from an FBI informer and the trial judge's comments about "over-reaching participation by government agents" were major factors in the decision.

The seven men and five women returned the innocent verdicts in U.S. District Court on Sunday, the fourth day of their deliberations in the case of the "Camden 28."

The acquittal was greeted by shouts of joy and applause from friends and relatives of the 17 Vietnam war protesters, who had been on trial since Feb. 5.

Skylab crew practices mission

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Faced with a tight schedule to meet a Friday launch date, Skylab astronauts and engineers today worked on procedures for erecting a gold and white sun shade that might save the damaged space station.

A tentative flight plan calls for an astronaut on the first day in space to lean out the hatch of the Apollo ferry ship and attempt to dislodge at least one of two power-producer solar panels that might be jammed.

On the second day, after docking with the orbiting laboratory, the three astronauts would try to deploy a giant shade to cool down the sunbaked craft and protect it from solar heat.

The favored method is to push an umbrella-type device through an opening from inside the workshop. If this is not possible, a space walk deployment of a separate shield will be attempted.

If the shade can be erected, the space agency believes there is a good chance astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz can carry out a full 28-day mission. But medical, scientific and earth resources experiments will have to be curtailed.

Activity today, now that most work on the sun shades is completed, triggers four days of fast-moving events aimed at launching the astronauts at 9 a.m. EDT Friday on man's first space salvage operation.

"The schedule is awfully tight," one official said. "There's a lot to do and there's a possibility we might have to postpone another five days. But we're hoping for Friday."

Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz are to fly to Cape Kennedy Tuesday night and two sun shields and associated hardware are to be delivered here Wednesday. After evaluation, a decision will be made Thursday on whether to proceed with the launching or to again delay it.

During the weekend, mission control purged the 85-ton laboratory of its nitrogen-oxygen atmosphere, believed to have been polluted with potentially deadly gases discharged by hot foam plastic insulation in the cabin.

In case some pockets of toxic gas remain, the astronauts will carry gas masks and "sniffing" devices like those used by miners. If gas is detected, additional purges will be necessary.

Average temperatures inside the overheated workshop, the main section of the station, climbed from 105 to 115 degrees Sunday.

After working today in simulators at Johnson Space Center, Houston, the astronauts fly to Alabama's Marshall Center to rehearse the two space walk deployments in a giant water tank which contains full-scale models of the Skylab and the Apollo ferry ship.

Kissinger,

conferring

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho scheduled another meeting today after their deputies spent a record 12 hours in talks. There was no word of progress in their search for ways to lessen violations of the Vietnam ceasefire.

The meeting Sunday between Deputy Assistant Secretary of State William Sullivan and Deputy Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach was the longest known meeting of Vietnam negotiators in four years of talks.

Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser, spent 13 hours with Tho during three days of talks beginning Thursday. The Kissinger-Tho sessions were suspended Sunday while their deputies met.

Kissinger is expected to return to Washington later this week to report on the meetings.

Julie Andrews Show wins Emmys

'The Waltons' award winner

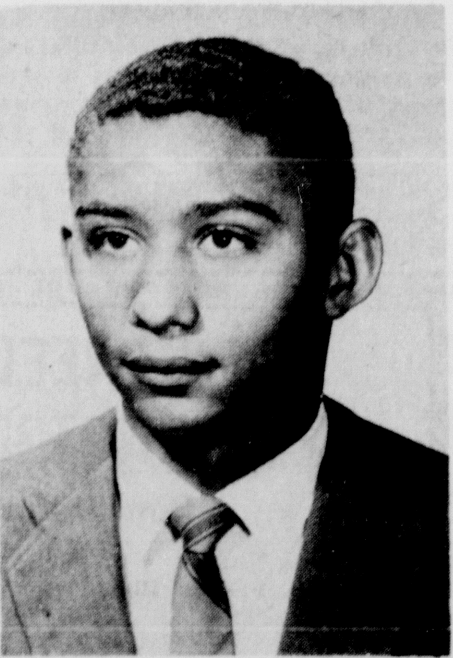

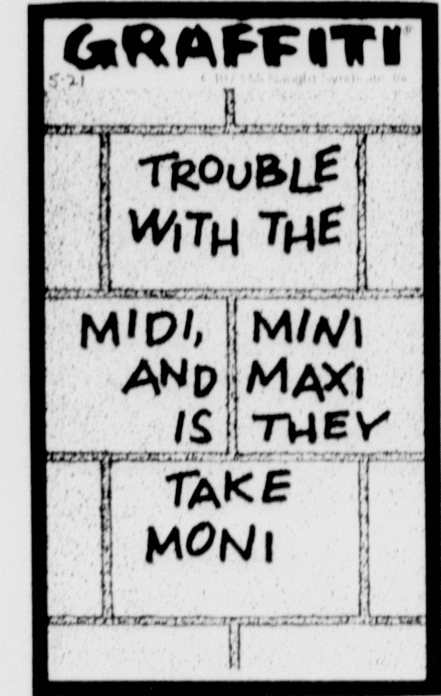

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television's biggest success of the season, "The Waltons," and its most glamorous failure, "The Julie Andrews Hour," dominated the 25th annual Emmy Awards presentations.

"The Waltons," the CBS story of a rural Virginia family during the Depression, won six awards Sunday night—including best dramatic series; best actor, for Richard Thomas; best actress, for Michael Learned; and best supporting actress, for Ellen Corby.

Miss Andrews' show, canceled by ABC because of low ratings, picked up seven awards, including best musical variety series and a number for technical aspects. Miss Andrews was reported abroad during the moment of triumph at the Shubert Theater.

cises, the astronauts will experience sensations similar to working in space weightlessness. Backup Skylab astronauts have worked for several days in the tank.

Skylab's problems occurred 63 seconds after launching last Monday when a protective heat shield ripped away for a still unknown reason. The mishap exposed the workshop to the searing rays of the sun and also prevented two of six solar panels from extending, cutting the craft's power in half.

Boat sinks; 12 are dead

NARRAGANSETT, R.I. (AP) — Coast Guard crews and state police resumed their search today for missing passengers from a chartered fishing boat which sank Saturday, killing at least 12 persons.

Eleven persons survived the sinking and four or five remained unaccounted for, officials said. The boat, the Comet, went down Saturday morning, seven miles south of Point Judith in Narragansett Bay.

Some of the survivors said some passengers had doubted the seaworthiness of the Comet, a converted ferry, and had wanted to return to land.

The search for other survivors or bodies of the missing passengers was suspended Sunday night for the first time since noon Saturday when the sinking was reported.

Some passengers clung to rafts and debris in 50-degree ocean water for about five hours before they were rescued.

The boat's captain and owner, William Jackson of Cumberland, died in the accident.

Mrs. Loto Fern Peterson

Mrs. Neil Peterson, 83, a former resident of Washington C. H., died Sunday in Bradenton, Fla. She came to Washington C. H. 18 years ago from Cincinnati.

The News In Brief

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Clyde Weyer, 69, and his 81-year-old sister-in-law, Martha McClusky, were murdered Sunday night by two intruders who stole $35 from their home, police reported.

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — An Antwerp woman, 26-year-old Susan Nelson, was killed and her 49-year-old aunt, Glenna Carpenter of Defiance, seriously wounded during a shooting in the parking lot of Ayersville High School, the Defiance County Sheriff's office said.

The sheriff's office said the two women were leaving graduation ceremonies at the school Sunday when Mrs. Carpenter's estranged husband, Bernard, allegedly jumped from a car and shot them.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A hijacked Venezuelan airliner returned safely to Caracas Sunday night with 25 passengers and five crewmen aboard despite the government's refusal to ransom it with 79 prisoners.

Three armed men and a woman took over the twin-engine Convair Friday evening on a domestic flight to the capital. They threatened to blow up the plane and all aboard unless the government freed the 79 persons the hijackers said were political prisoners. But when the government refused even to negotiate, the hijackers settled for a flight to Havana.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today it had learned that the White House created in 1970 a group called the Intelligence Evaluation Unit to spy on radical and antiwar groups.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration budget proposals would mean a 40 per cent loss in federal funds for new medical research in areas other than cancer and heart and lung disease, the Association of American Medical Colleges said today.

Severestorms pound Plains; 18 are injured

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Severe thunderstorms packing hail battered the Southern Plains early today. Showers and thunderstorms popped up at scattered locations across the nation.

A tornado — the latest of several in the nation's midsection and southern states over the weekend — was sighted in extreme western Oklahoma just before midnight. Little damage was done by the latest twister.

Heavy rains drenched the Texas Panhandle Sunday night. Six to 8 inches of water was running in the streets of Leflore, in the Panhandle.

Showers and thundershowers dampened areas over the Central Plateau and Central Rockies, reaching out for the north and central Plains and the northern Mississippi Valley.

Showers lingered on the North Carolina coast, and rain, drizzle and fog clung to the northeastern states. Some heavy rainfall washed southern New England with more than an inch at Providence, R.I., and Falmouth, Mass.

Elsewhere, skies were fair and temperatures generally in the 50s and 60s.

Late Sunday morning a tornado hit about three miles east of Elizabeth City, N.C., cutting a 30-foot swath through a wooded area, toppling several barns, trees, power lines and a mobile home.

Twisters and severe thunderstorms hit northern Alabama Saturday, where at least 18 persons were injured in Lovelace, Section and Fort Payne. At least six funnel clouds touched down in Indianapolis, one stopping the Indianapolis 500 auto race time trials temporarily.

Tornadoes, hail and heavy rains hit a broad spectrum from Arkansas to the southern east coast Saturday, but no personal deaths or major injuries occurred.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 35 at Butte, Mont., to 84 at Phoenix, Arizona.

Clear skies and almost no chance of rain are forecast through Tuesday as a high pressure area dominates the state's weather.

The low that brought rain to Ohio over the weekend had moved to the New England coast this morning. The rain that fell across Ohio Saturday and early Sunday ended over eastern parts of the state around noon.

Skies were generally clear over the state Sunday afternoon, and highs ranged from 56 at Youngstown to 71 at Toledo.

Lows dipped to the 40s across the state overnight.

Highs today were forecast from the mid 60s to low 70s under sunny skies. Lows tonight are expected to reach the 40s and low 50s, and highs Tuesday the 70s and low 80s.

The extended forecast calls for generally mild weather with a chance of showers later in the week.

Highs Wednesday through Friday in the 70s. Lows in the 50s Wednesday and in the 60s Thursday and Friday. A chance of showers.

Stock list slides again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, beset by Watergate worries as well as economic and monetary uncertainties, continued to give ground today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 7.08 at 888.09. Declining issues swamped those advancing by an 1,161-to-219 margin in relatively active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the market appeared to be in the grip of some persistent depressing influences, including the Watergate case and the belief that it had shaken confidence in the U.S. dollar.

Until some of the issues raised by the case are resolved, "I would imagine that, subject to some technical corrections, we have some rough times ahead," said Martin I. Goodfriend at Bruns, Nordemann & Co.

On the American Stock Exchange, the noon price change index showed a .20 decline at 22.61.

The NYSE's noon index of more than 1,500 common stocks was off 0.63 at 54.33.

Shotgun blast hits prof's home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A shooting incident at the home of a second Ohio State University professor is being investigated by suburban Upper Arlington police.

Authorities said a shotgun blast shattered the front picture window at the home of professor Walter W. Seifert Friday.

There was no apparent connection between the incident and one at the home of Dr. Osborn T. Smallwood May 9, when a .22 caliber bullet was fired through the garage and a breakfast room at the home, police said.

Officers said they felt it might have been a scare tactic by someone who disagrees with Seifert's conservative political views.

2 state unions approve merger

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 33,000 member Ohio Civil Service Employees Association and the 12,000 member State Employees Union have joined forces.

The executive board of the State Employees Union, by a unanimous vote, decided to disaffiliate from the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Hospital treats injury victims

Two persons were treated at Memorial Hospital for injuries suffered in accidents over the weekend.

Police said Rebecca Burns, 52, of 1078 Lewis St., was treated for lacerations of her hands and elbows following a dispute with her husband early Monday morning.

Officers said she suffered the injuries when she knocked out her bedroom window.

Larry W. Rhoades, 14, of Greenfield was admitted to Memorial Hospital for observation and a possible concussion suffered in a bicycle accident in Greenfield Sunday evening. Sheriff's deputies reported Rhoades was riding his bicycle in an alley when the front wheel fell off, throwing him to the pavement.

Miss USA

NEW YORK (AP) — "Liberation means your own personal fulfillment," says Amanda Jones, the new Miss USA.

"If you're fulfilled as a wife and mother, then fine," she said at a news conference Sunday.

But the 22-year-old free-lance model from Evanston, Ill., went on to say: "Women are capable of carrying on any career they want. And I'm definitely in favor of equal pay for equal work."

Miss Jones, who won the Miss USA of 1973 title here Saturday night, also said she supports a woman's right to abortion. "It's the decision of the woman and the woman alone

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Gabriel Kaplan, a young comedian, recently made the first television appearance of his life the right way. First, he appeared on NBC's "Tonight Show." Then he brought the house down.
His weapon was a sharp, funny monologue about a geriatric "Dating Game," preceded by an explanation of what he did to settle his personal doubt over whether he was an adopted child.
"I finally made up my mind to ask," he said. "So I went up to my father and I said, 'Ling Chou?'"
His guest shot led to another "Tonight" booking for June, a scheduled appearance on NBC's "Midnight Special" and talk of doing a record. It's a good start, but he's been preparing for it six years.
How does a guy get into the comedy business, anyway?
"Are you ready for this?" he asked. "I was a baseball player."
It turns out that Kaplan, 27, was signed right out of high school to play left and center field for Amarillo, the Texas League farm club of the San Francisco Giants.
He played for two years, batted .304 in his first season and began looking around for another line of work the second year when his batting average dropped and his throwing arm began hurting.
"Then I started writing a little bit for comedians," he said. "I came back to New York during the off-season and tried writing and performing. I guess that's when I got the performing bug."

His first paying job — at $125 for a week's work — came during the Christmas holidays of 1967. He played the fabulous Chez Paree Club in Waterville, Maine. He came back to New York $50 in the red.
He later moved to Miami and worked local clubs as well as Playboy clubs around the country. He also collaborated on an album with impressionist David Frye.
He was booked on "Tonight" after a talent coordinator from the show caught his act at the Improvisation, a small night spot here.
An essentially serious man off-stage, Kaplan is lavish in his praise of his fellow struggling performers. And he's visibly anguished when they bomb, like one was bombing on "Tonight" a few nights after his successful appearance on the show.
Cleveland and Shaker Heights, a suburb of Cleveland, have the only two commuter train systems in the state of Ohio.

Money and the military: Part 1

Defense Department waste still in billions

"At all times we must be conscious of the money that we are spending and get the absolute maximum value for every dollar we spend," Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements has said. How well the Defense Department is doing that job is explored in this first of a five-part series from The AP Special Assignment Team.

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has asked Congress for nearly $35 billion to buy and build things next year. If next year is like last year and most years before that, almost a billion of those dollars will be wasted.

On weapons that don't work. On planes that won't fly. On ships that never sail.

Quite likely, those fiscal fiascos will be accompanied by cost overruns, production underruns and delivery delays that pour several billions more of the taxpayers' dollars down the defense drain.

It's been like that for a long time, almost since man abandoned his horse and musket for airplanes and missiles, and weapons systems began their dizzying climb in complexity and cost. And sometimes outright waste.

For instance, in the past decade, the value of weapons programs that were simply abandoned, without any usable hardware at all to show for the time and effort, totaled $7 billion.

Government accountants recently completed an audit of 45 major weapons systems under development and found cost overruns of $31.5 billion—39 per cent—over original estimates. When overruns on spare parts and support equipment for those systems are included, the figure is closer to $35 billion.

Some defense experts warily suggest there may be a light at the end of the tunnel.

Others say they've heard that line before.

"Our biggest problem is that we play games," says Gordon Rule, one of the Navy's top civilian procurement specialists and a frequent critic of procurement practices.

"The contractors play games with the Defense Department. The Defense Department plays games with Congress. I have grave doubts that anybody can stop it."

In the last few years, in an attempt to stop the games or at least to make them less horrible, the Defense Department has undertaken a major overhaul of procurement procedures. Nobody, not even the authors of the changes, is prepared to say at this point that things are all fixed up, but they say they see improvement.

An Associated Press study of the nation's defense contracting practices—what Gordon Rule calls games—has found:

—Some of the procurement scandals

of recent years resulted from what is now generally conceded to be a faulty buying concept initiated during the Kennedy administration. The concept, called total package procurement, was aimed at saving money. But it forced contractors to mass-produce items at the same time the items were being developed. The result was assembly-line foupals the likes of which American industry seldom sees.

—The number of new defense and space projects has fallen drastically in the past few years, slashing the business base of the nation's giant defense-aerospace industry. Some contractors have been so eager for business that they deliberately bid low on projects just to win the contracts. They knew from precedent that when their low bids got them into financial trouble, the Defense Department would bail them out.

—The Defense Department has begun a new policy called fly-before-you-buy, aimed at cutting costs and improving the end product. The Pentagon thinks it will work. The Congress thinks it will work. The contractors think it will work. But nobody uses it.

—Many officials of the largest defense-aerospace industrial empires say they feel their industry is due for a shakeout. They say there is not enough business to sustain the dozen or so largest defense-aerospace companies and that, through merger or bankruptcy or a combination thereof, some are going to have to go.

The basic problem in the defense procurement process is that it doesn't operate very efficiently doing what sounds like a relatively simple job: identifying and defining a defense need and a weapons system to cover that need; amassing the technology the system requires; developing that system and then producing it.

Somewhere between the idea and the reality, somebody's been messing up. Most visible among the messes are those $7 billion worth of programs the Defense Department has abandoned in the past decade. They included projects where the military finally concluded it couldn't get what it wanted, or couldn't make what it wanted work right, or couldn't afford the thing after it was developed.

WHS Class of 1923 holds first class reunion

The Washington High School Class of 1923 held a reunion at the Lafayette Inn Saturday night — its first and fiftieth. There were fifty-six members and guests present for the occasion.

Upon their arrival, the guests were greeted by the class president, Russell Giebelhouse, and Mrs. Giebelhouse, Miss Jane Jefferson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Estle Steele, and received identification cards. The graduates received cards with their pictures taken from the high school annual of 1923.

Preceding the buffet dinner at 7 o'clock, punch was served while the group mingled and renewed acquaintances. The invocation was given by Kenneth Chaney.

Following the dinner, Mr. Giebelhouse, who served as master of ceremonies for the evening, welcomed the members of the class, former teachers and guests.

Portia Brownell Erick, class historian, reading from her original manuscript, recounted the vicissitudes and joys of the class, from its freshman through the senior year.

Gladys Griffith Weaver paid tribute to the members of the class who are deceased. As she read each name, a Columbian rose, the class flower, with the member's name on it, was arranged appropriately in a vase. Those so memorialized were: Nelle Arnold Stuckey, Irene Cooper, Hazel Frye, Frank Hamilton, Marjorie Kanable, Helen Karney Riggins, Kathryn Keane, Paul Kinnen, Clyde Larrimer, Christine Meier, Willard Mitchener, Bonnie Runyan, Clark Templin, Lillian Thompson, Russell Vannorsdall and Harry Zimmerman.

The meeting was then opened for any who cared to respond with remarks and comments. Frank R. Thompson, who was principal, and Charles D. Morehead, math teacher and coach, each told of some of the highlights and amusing incidents of their regimes, as well as quite a few members of the class.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Robert

Garden Club

hears reviews

The Busy Bee Garden Club of Jeffersonville met in the home of Mrs. Joe Ferguson. Mrs. Carl Janes presided at the meeting and read the poem, "The Color of Spring."

Cheer cards were signed for all members and the nominating committee was named to prepare the candidates for new officers for next year.

Mrs. Ruth Williams gave a review of "Once Hopeless Land" and told members that much can be done with rock gardens.

Mrs. Virginia Shoemaker gave the second review of "Plants of the Bible" and named the lily, orchids, Rose of Sharon and the mustard seed.

The members answered roll call with "How I can chip with conservation." The club prayer was said in unison for the closing.

A dessert course was served.

Buck, Mrs. Malcolm Hankins, Wayne Shobe, Mrs. Robert West, Mrs. Thomas Willis, Mrs. Kenneth Chaney, Mrs. Hubert Follis, Harry Erick, Walter Orr and Kenneth Crabb.

Coming from the greatest distance was Malcolm Hankins, of Ashville, N.C. Robert Foster had both the most children and the most grandchildren.

Assisting in making the programs, arranging the table decorations of blue and silver, the class colors, and planning the event, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Giebelhouse, were Miss Jane Jefferson, Mrs. Ralph Michael, Robert West, Estle Steele, and many others who were instrumental in finding addresses.

All agreed it was an enjoyable and long to be remembered occasion.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crabb (Ethel Bonecutter) of Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Erick (Portia Brownell) of Newark; Mrs. Hubert Follis (Zoe Burnette), Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vollmer (Anna Carr) of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Morehead of New Concord, Ohio.

Association meets with Mrs. Long

The Women's Association of McNair Presbyterian Church met in the home of Mrs. Ted Long Thursday evening. Mrs. Charles Wood conducted devotions and the business session. She also read the names of the missionaries of the day.

Mrs. Bryan Leasure gave a report on the sewing assignment. Several layettes made by the members have been sent to the mission station in Kentucky.

Mrs. Richard Case gave a Bible Study taken from the Book of John.

A silent auction was held at the close of the meeting as a money-making project, and refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Marvin Waddle.

TAKE CRUISE — A week-long cruise to Port-au-Prince and Montego Bay, Kingston and Port Antonio, Jamaica on board the M-S Starward of Norwegian Caribbean Lines was part of a recent Florida vacation for Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kirkpatrick Jr. of New Holland.

Church setting for recital

A special children's recital was given in the sanctuary of First Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. Friday when Mrs. Robert E. Willis presented her young musicians from five to 13 years of age. For many, this was their first appearance in public.

The opening numbers were "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and "God Bless America" presented a choral group. Other special numbers included a trio consisting of Debbie Dickey, Kitten Sagar and Brenda Delay, and soloist Diana Martindale who presented a group of children's songs.

The following played piano solos: David and Susan Alkire, Mary Ragland, Beth and Ellen Evans, Lisa Skaggs, Diana Martindale, Debbie and Douglas Dickey, Brenda Delay, Barry Cupp and Kitten Sagar.

Miss Jennifer Cox was the guest soloist and Miss Susan Wilson was the accompanist.

Pupils who will enter the musicale group for next year are Debbie Dickey,

Mrs. Binegar feted at layette shower

Friends gathered in the home of Karen Helmick, 237 Green St., Friday evening to honor Mrs. John Binegar (Cindy Yakie) with a layette shower.

The table was decorated in blue and white with a blue, white and green umbrella as the centerpiece. A cake, decorated in blue and yellow, was served with punch to the guests.

Game prizes were won by Mary Jo Burris and Julie Wolfe, who in turn presented them to Mrs. Binegar.

Invited guests were Mrs. Jenny Lee and Mrs. Dean Yankie, Miss Mary Ann Yankie, and the Misses Debbie Yoho, Nancy Henry, Rita Ankrom, Dianna Grieves, Rhonda Ruth, Ann DelPonte, Pam Stritenberger, Ann Black, Diana Combs, Jane Ann Wackman, Rita Stemple, Jean Ann Enoch, Kathy Saxton, Lenora Slaven, Lois Rodgers, Ima Darling, Jill Willis, Teri Mount, Dianne Sagar, Robin Morris, Mary Jo Burris, Rhonda Cockerill and Julie Wolfe.

Jeanette Rankin dies

CARMEL, Calif. (AP) — Jeannette Rankin, 92, the first woman elected to Congress, who served from 1917 to 1919 and again from 1941 to 1943, died Friday. A Republican and leader in the women's suffrage movement, the congresswoman from Montana was one of 56 members who voted against U.S. entry into World War I. She was also the only member of Congress to vote against declaring war on Japan in World War II.

The first overwater flight in history was made from Cleveland to Cedar Point on August 31, 1910 by Glenn Curtis.

Delta Rho installs officers, presents awards

Officers for Delta Rho chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority were installed by Mrs. Gary McColim when the group met in the home of Mrs. Charles Merrilees for a potluck supper and meeting. Those installed were Mrs. Robert Kunz, president; Mrs. Terry Lane, vice president; Miss Pamela Heiney, treasurer, and Miss Sharon Kellogg, secretary.

Jewel pins were presented to Mrs. Norman Dennis, Mrs. Robert Snider, Miss Debbie Dill and Miss Heiney by Mrs. Kunz and Mrs. McColim. Mrs. Lane was presented her First Pearl Award by Mrs. Kunz and in turn Mrs. Lane presented Mrs. Kunz her Pallas Athene Award, and Mrs. McColim the first degree Pallas Athene Award.

Gifts were given to 'secret sisters' and new ones were chosen for next year, after they were revealed during the evening.

Mrs. Steve Smalley was guest speaker and spoke on her duties as speech therapist in the Washington C. H. City Schools. She told of how she sees her 84 students in groups up to five for one-half hour or individually for 15 minutes twice a week. She visits each elementary school regularly and has special cases at the high school.

At the beginning of the year, she hears all of the elementary students in grades two to six, and screens the students who needs the most help. Then each student is given a test to find out what exact sounds the child needs to develop more fully.

A question and answer period followed and questions specifically on the problems of the cleft palate and the stuttermers were asked.

Those present were the hostess, Mrs. Smalley, Miss Dill, Miss Heiney, Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Snider, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Kunz, Mrs. McColim, Miss Kellogg, Mrs. Lynn Shoemaker and Miss Gayle Sullivan.

Women start firefighting duties

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The days when residents of suburban Terrace Park referred to their volunteer fire fighters as "firemen" have ended.

Six women, five of them married and one a grandmother, Sunday completed ten weeks of training with written examinations and a practice run on the town's fire truck to become members of the fire department.

Until recently two village maintenance crewmen handled fire calls during the day when the 25 to 30 volunteers were at their regular jobs.

But the new women members can work the day shift, drive the fire truck, climb ladders, handle the pumps and hoses and do other things firemen are supposed to do.

Three of the women have completed the entire course for certification. The others are to finish soon. Then they'll serve a three-month probationary period and a one-year apprenticeship.

Sunday they tramped around in heavy boots and yellow slickers. They wrestled with the hose and sent one woman up a ladder to hose down the smoke pouring from a second-story window of a condemned building being used for the test.

"Reaction to us probably will be bad," commented one of the firewomen. "At first, they'll think we're unfeminine and showoffs more than anything else."

This is what the women had to say about their new "jobs":

Mimi Matthews said "my dad was in the Madison Place Fire Department when I was a little kid and I grew up wanting to be a part of it."

Ev Peery, supervisor of the women, said "the men in the force give us a lift whenever they can. They don't say, 'you got yourself into this, now get yourself out.'"

Pat Roe said her husband was against the idea but she added, "he'll understand eventually."

Susan Channer said her legs shook the first time she was on a 35-foot ladder and she added, "I think the instructor thought we'd freeze, but everyone was okay."

Roberta Estridge used to live on a tobacco farm and she said, "I figured if I could climb into a high loft and throw down packets of heavy tobacco, I could learn to do this."

Pat Hemm predicted, "they won't appreciate us until they call us."

Reform group wins UMW district vote

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — In what many observers regarded as a smashing victory for United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller, the reformist Miners for Democracy slate registered a clean sweep of the District 17 elections.

U.S. Department of Labor figures indicate Jack Perry won over incumbent District 17 President Joe Ellis by 850 votes. The tally, subject to final verification, showed Perry received 3,423 votes to 2,573 votes for Ellis.

Miller, a native of Cabin Creek in District 17, was elected president of the international union last December on the MFD ticket. Often at odds with Ellis, Miller actively campaigned on behalf of Perry.

Ellis said Sunday night, "Jack Perry didn't defeat me. It was Arnold Miller I was running against."

But Ellis urged a reconciliation between the rival forces. "We've got to forget the past. We're still union men."

SCOPS to tour area horse farms

A tour of Fayette County horse farms will follow the next meeting of the South Central Ohio Preservation Society Inc.

SCOPS members and friends will meet at 2 p.m. next Sunday in the Courthouse, home of the famous Archibald Willard murals. Mrs. Richard Rankin, Ohio 41-N, SCOPS president and horse fancier, will lead the tour of the farms.

The business meeting will include a report by Mrs. Joseph VanMeter, SCOPS coordinator, on the "Scioto River Project", and by Vice President Franklin Conaway on "Restoration Projects".

Urban, rural problems are linked

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the very few statisticians and economists in the Agriculture Department known more for philosophical reflection than for facts, figures and analyses is David E. Brewster.

Although he works for the economic and statistical analysis division of the Economic Research Service, Brewster's job classification is "agricultural historian" and it is in this capacity that he writes about rural-urban relationships.

Brewster's report, one of a series, is in the current issue of Farm Index, a monthly publication of the department. Its title is "Economists in an Urban Age."

It would seem, Brewster begins, that agricultural economists would have a diminished role today, now that fewer than five per cent of the U.S. population are farmers and that 70 per cent of all Americans live on two per cent of the land classified as urban.

"But exactly the reverse is true," says Brewster. "For one thing, our urban and rural sectors are more closely linked than ever before. This means that many problems facing city dwellers have aspects that can't be dealt with in just a metropolitan context."

Brewster offers what he calls "a few salient features of the current urban scene," including these comments:

- "Our cities are falling apart;
- "We can't dispose of human wastes in a satisfactory manner;
- "We can't dispose of our garbage;
- "We need new and improved educational services, airport services, police services, rapid transit services, park and recreation services, and all kinds of housing ..."

Says Brewster: "If that sounds like the big city blues pure and simple, keep in mind that the blues started out as country music. Likewise, the present crisis has its own backwater roots."

NUL leader succumbs

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Julius A. Thomas, 76, a National Urban League administrator for 29 years, died here Sunday.

Cleveland was the point of origin of the first transcontinental air-rail passenger service, inaugurated June 14, 1929.

Maintenance work slated

Mowing, painting and general maintenance projects are on the agenda, this week for city, county and state road crews.

Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the City Service Department, said crews will continue the striping of streets and will be mowing along highways and alleys. City crews will also be building catch basins and patching streets.

State crews, according to Gene Fitzpatrick, superintendent of the Ohio Department of Highways here, said workmen will be repairing berms on Ohio 734, and U.S. 35-N or Ohio 41-N. Six mowers will be in operation this

Fire causes $25,000 damage to Cincy cafe

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Fire early today caused an estimated $25,000 damage to the Bo-Mar Cafe about three miles north of downtown Cincinnati.

City Fire Marshal Robert Miller reported that the fire was believed to be arson.

Firemen were called to the cafe at 3:07 a.m.

week along guard rails, and curves will be widened on Ohio 729, north of Jeffersonville. A blacktopping project is planned for the four-lane section of U.S. 35 at the I-71 interchange.

County workmen, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will be working on Railroad Street in Jeffersonville, and will be grading and ditching along Zimmerman Road. Other projects in the county include mowing weeds, working on culverts in Jefferson Township and spray-patching county highways.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, MAY 22

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Prepare your schedule carefully, and be as diligent in carrying out orders as you would expect others to be. Avoid resentments, emotionalism.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Be cautious in making directives and taking others' feelings for granted. Alertness and flexibility of thought will help you to quicker, safer conclusions.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Your efforts now MUST have sound, intelligent purpose or havoc will reign. Plan well, then step forward — but carefully — so as neither to overstep nor fall short of the mark.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Withdraw from any situation if you believe that your efforts are not effective or that someone else should take the final stand. Fair play for all will net top rewards.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Avoid procrastinating in matters which, while not pressing, should be handled before they clutter your program. Don't waste precious moments in daydreaming.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Mixed influences. Do not get into controversy that will only lead to chaos, but do discuss matters calmly. You CAN reach happy solutions.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Gains from past efforts indicated. Also, recognition for a long-forgotten favor bestowed. Creative pursuits highly favored.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Control emotions now. There will be tendencies to exaggerate, to lose temper. Be especially tactful in dealings with marriage or business partners.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Generous stellar influences. This should be a good day for superior work performance and other gainful endeavors. Avoid tensions and distractions, however.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Aspects just so-so. It will be largely up to you whether the day turns out satisfactorily or otherwise. Use discretion in all matters. Don't rely on guess work — be SURE.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Make time count now. Whether handling large or small matters, don't be sidetracked by nonessentials. This is the time to advance a new idea which could benefit many.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Handle your schedule efficiently but give yourself time for investigation, observation of flaws in method. Some revisions may be necessary.

YOU BORN TODAY have an alert, inquiring mind; are usually physically dexterous, too. However, your temperament, at times, is too explosive for stability, so you MUST learn to control nerves and temper. You are an idealist, a deep thinker, and are endowed with the talents required to succeed in music, painting and writing. You are usually working on several things at one time, if you do not take up one of the arts as a career, you will almost surely take up one as a hobby or an avocation. Clever and ingenious, you would make an excellent inventor, scientist or engineer. If you choose business as a career, your best field would be real estate.

No jobs open for holdup man

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — John C. Kenefick, president of the Union Pacific Railroad, has blacklisted one man from the company payroll—the one who robbed him of $400.

A gunman took the money from Kenefick Thursday night and then asked, "You think I could work for the company?"

"I wouldn't give you a recommendation," replied Kenefick, who wasn't harmed.

Consumer price index data grim

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Every month the government dumps 120,000 prices into a computer and comes up with a package of figures watched closely by housewives, union leaders and pensioners.
CPI, for Consumer Price Index, is a monthly measure of inflation, a vital economic indicator showing price trends for food, clothing, housing, health care, transportation and recreation—virtually everything people buy.
Not only is the information useful to housewives in planning family budgets, but also to labor leaders in drawing up new contracts. To pensioners it could mean higher incomes, and to divorcees bigger alimony payments.
The next report, on April's living costs, is due Tuesday.
The rise or fall in the cost of living is computed by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics from information sent in by 240 men and women in 56 cities across the country. These part-time government workers roam through 18,000 retail stores and service establishments, checking prices on 400 items.
Mailed questionnaires are used to collect figures on apartment rents, bus fares, utility rates, newspaper prices and other items not requiring personal visits. Housing costs, college tuition and used-car prices are collected by other government agencies.
All totaled, information on 120,000 individual prices pours into the bureau where it is sifted by government clerks, statisticians and economists. Fed into a computer, the data emerges as the Consumer Price Index.
The bureau has been compiling the living-cost reports since 1913, periodically updating the items sampled to account for changing spending patterns and new products. The latest revision was completed in 1964. Janet Norwood, the bureau's associate deputy commissioner, claims the index has no more than .1 per cent error.
For the first three months of the year, the index has shown a sharp rise in prices at a seasonally adjusted rate of 8.8 per cent, the worst inflation in 22 years.
The March index for all items showed a climb of 1.2 index points from February, up from 128.6 to 129.8. This represented a rise of .9 per cent for the month.
The index figure, based on 1967 prices, means it took $129.80 in March to pay for the same "market basket" of typical family goods and services that cost $100 six years ago.
A companion report, based on industry payroll figures, shows average weekly wages for some 58 million rank-and-file workers and how they are faring against inflation. The March report said the average weekly wage of $140.23 was up 7.13 cents, but down 12 cents in purchasing power from the previous month because of inflation. The average wage was up $8.13 over the year, but represented only a $1.51 increase in purchasing power.

13 persons die on Ohio highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Ohio Highway Patrol reported 13 persons were killed on the state's highways during the weekend.
The patrol keeps a count of traffic deaths from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.
The 13 deaths compared with 14 a week earlier. Law enforcement agencies are bracing for a much higher toll next weekend, which includes the Memorial Day holiday.
The dead:
FRIDAY NIGHT
GREENVILLE — William E. Clogher, Versailles, was struck by a car while he was riding his motorcycle on Ohio 121 in Darke County.
NEWARK — Douglas Wright, 16, Newark, in a two-car accident on Maple Avenue in Newark.
XENIA — Shirley M. Walker, 39, Spring Valley, in a one-car mishap on Ohio 275 in Greene County.
SATURDAY
WARREN — Keith A. Strange, 29, Sharon, Pa., when his auto crashed off the Warren-Sharon Road east of Ohio 7 in Trumbull County.
UPPER SANDUSKY — Alice M. Brennan, 60, Avoca, Mich., and Diane Weaver, 15, of Upper Sandusky, in a two-car accident at the intersection of U.S. 23 and Ohio 67 in Wyandot County.
XENIA — Robert Pace, 15, Xenia, when hit by a car while bicycling on Ohio 45 about seven miles south of Xenia.
SUNDAY
CLEVELAND — Daniel E. Steiger Jr., 20, North Olmstead, when the car he was driving left the road and crashed off Interstate 77 in Cleveland.
CLEVELAND — Brenda Chaky, 22, Brunswick, in one-car crash on Interstate 77 in Cleveland.
KENTON — Wilma J. Piper, 18, Kenton, in a one-car accident on Ohio 53 in Hardin County.
CANFIELD — Reinhold Konrad, 24, Canfield, when his car went off U.S. 6 in Ashtabula County.
MARION — Harry Glancy, 50, Mt. Vernon, a pedestrian, when he tried to flag down a car for help on U.S. 36 in Delaware County.
DEERFIELD — Steve W. Cox, 5, Mt. Vernon, hit by a car while crossing U.S. 224 one mile west of Deerfield in Portage County.

Search continues for 2 jail escapees

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP) — Search continued today for two men who escaped Sunday from the Adams County jail here. They were identified as Benjamin Schumacher Jr., 22, charged with breaking and entering and auto larceny, and Ronnie Ernold, 20, charged with breaking and entering.
Both men are from near West Union. Sheriff Louis Fulton said the escapees broke open a storage door, then got through the ceiling to the roof and climbed down a radio tower.
Joan of Arc was burned at the stake at Rouen, France.

Ohio storm damage eyed
HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Residents and insurance agents were working today to determine the damage from severe rain and wind storms which hit Ross and Morgan townships Saturday evening.
The storms also hit other parts of southwestern Ohio, but the heaviest damage apparently was in the two Butler County townships.
There were several reports of funnel clouds in the area.
One was reported at Dan Hengehold farm on Ohio 126. The farm is operated by Jerry Jones, who said he and his family took shelter in the basement and were unhurt. The wind flattened a large barn and silo and twisted another barn off its foundation.

Reds manage twinbill split

Problems still plague Cincy pitching corps

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds managed to get an even split in Sunday's doubleheader with the San Diego Padres, but their pitching problems still are around.

Gary Nolan is still in Florida trying to correct an arm ailment. Roger Nelson, was scheduled to pitch against the Padres Sunday, but was scratched because of an ailing elbow. And Ross Grimsley, a 2-1 loser to San Diego Sunday, has lost three of his last four games.

Manager Sparky Anderson insists Nelson's ailment is "nothing," and added "we just don't need him now."

But Anderson has had to move Clay Carroll into a starting spot and that depletes the bullpen although Carroll has been considerably less than a ball of fire as a reliever this year.

As to Grimsley, Anderson said, "He was throwing better today but they still hit him hard."

Don Gullett built his record to 5-2 Sunday as he won the second game of the double bill, 3-2, although he had to have help from Pedro Borbon and Tom Hall with two out in the ninth.

The Padres, however, got some pitching encouragement from the first game. Fred Norman won his first game of the season after losing five straight, but Anderson blamed bunts for the loss. Two of them set it up for the Padres to score two runs in the seventh inning when Grimsley was nursing a 1-0 lead.

San Diego manager Don Zimmer

said he told Norman to stick with his fast ball and not to shake off any pitching calls by catcher Fred Kendall.

The Reds fell behind 2-0 in the second game, but some long hits let them pull that game out of the fire.

A safe bunt and then doubles by Johnny Bench and Tony Perez, grouped with an error, enabled Cincinnati to tie the score in the fourth and Perez wrapped it up with his sixth home run of the season in the seventh.

Both the Reds and San Diego were idle today and Houston moves in here Tuesday night to start a two-game series. The Astros, leading the National League's Western Division, are two games ahead of the thirdplace Reds.

Carroll is due to pitch for Cincinnati Tuesday against Dave Roberts of the Astros.

Streaking Astros nab top spot in NL West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A funny thing happened to the San Francisco Giants' annual June swoon this year...it began in May.

On May 1, the Giants had an 18-6 record and a four-game lead over the Cincinnati Reds and Houston Astros in the National League West. Since that time, they've dropped 11 of 19 games, including Sunday's 8-7 loss to the streaking Astros, and trail Houston, which has won 21 of 28, by one game.

drove in two runs as the Reds rallied against San Diego for a split of their doubleheader. Don Gullett limited the Padres to single runs in the first two innings, then pitched shutout ball the rest of the way, with last-out help from Tom Hall.

San Diego's Fred Norman, winning and going the distance for the first time this season in the opener, allowed only six hits and retired the final 14 batters.

Hank Aaron's 10th-inning single drove home the winning run and gave knuckleballer Phil Niekro, who pitched a three-hitter, his 100th career victory as Atlanta edged Los Angeles in their opener. The Dodgers gained a split in the nightcap behind Al Downing's three-hit pitching, a three-run homer by Ron Cey and a two-run shot by Joe Ferguson.

Rookie Ken Reitz clouted a three-run homer in the second inning and scored on Lou Brock's sacrifice fly in the fourth, leading St. Louis over Montreal in their second game. The Expos snapped the Cardinals' three-game winning streak in the opener as Bob Bailey hit a two-run homer and Ken Singleton drove in the other two runs with a double and sacrifice fly against Bob Gibson, 2-5.

Grooms selected MT's most valuable player

Senior Tony Grooms, Miami Trace's veteran infielder, captured the team's top awards at the Panthers' annual banquet held Sunday afternoon.

Grooms, the sweet-hitting second sacker who sparked head coach Dave Pellor's Panthers to an 11-5-1 all-games record this season, was named the team's most valuable player and also grabbed the top hitter award after swatting .625 in the South Central Ohio League and .471 overall.

He also received a special plaque from Miami Trace's Booster Club for landing four consecutive All-SCOL baseball team berths and a spot on the Class AAA All-Southeastern Ohio District baseball team.

the school's athletic association for winning the SCOL baseball championship. It was the second league title in three years for the Panthers.

Dave Arnold, Terry Smith, Muff Jones, Jeff Spears, Pete Jones and Grooms received senior awards from the booster club. Pete Jones and Grooms were four-year letter-winners and Spears earned his third letter.

Hoosiers in sweep of track and field

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Indiana's hustling Hoosiers completed a rare Big Ten title sweep and two impressive individual records were fashioned in the 73rd conference Outdoor Track and Field meet here last weekend.

The well-balanced Hoosiers piled up a modern record 153 points, winning or placing in 16 of the 18 events in the two-day meet which concluded Saturday at the University of Minnesota's Bierman Field track.

Michigan Wolverines prove tops in tennis

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The only question left Sunday was how large a margin Michigan would collect as it swept to its sixth consecutive Big Ten tennis championship with a near-flawless performance.

Snider, McElreath complete speedy field for Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — George Snider and Jim McElreath got last-minute positions and Sam Posey got the boot Sunday as a field of 33 starters was completed for the Memorial Day Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Snider, 32, of Bakersfield, Calif., got his chance to make the lineup when his long-time friend, A.J. Foyt, gave him a ride in his backup Gilmore Racing Team Special only two minutes before the shutdown time.

Snider, a nine-year veteran at Indianapolis, responded by cranking out four laps at an average speed of 190.355 miles per hour, fastest of the final round of qualifying and good for the 30th position in the field.

McElreath, a 44-year-old from

Arlington, Tex., already had packed his bags and was ready to head back to his ranch when he was offered a trial in Posey's backup Norris Eagle.

It was the next-to-last qualifying attempt of the day—Snider's was to be the last—and McElreath made the most of it. Despite having had no practice time in the car and with benefit of only one warmup lap, he put together four trips at 189.640 m.p.h., earning the last spot in the lineup.

Posey, a graduate of the road racing ranks, had qualified his No. 34 Norris Eagle on the first day of trials May 12, but at the slowest speed of any of the starters, 187.921 m.p.h.

He was first among the initial qualifiers on the bump list after the last three positions were filled. Then, when McElreath made the deal, Posey was left like a sitting duck for Snider's shutdown.

With Sunday's final trials, the field now will have only one more session on the track before the noon EDT start on May 28. They will participate in a four-hour session of "carburetion" runs next Thursday.

The qualifying speeds ranged from Johnny Rutherford's 10-mile run at 198.413 m.p.h., giving him the pole position, to McElreath's 188.640, slowest in the field.

The average of the 33 starters, however, was 192.329 m.p.h.—about 8 1/2 miles faster than last year.

Washington C. H. speed merchant Brian Storm earned his second consecutive berth in the Ohio high school Class AA track meet by turning a pair of winning performances in the Central District track meet held Saturday afternoon at Columbus Walnut Ridge High School.

Storm, a senior sprinter, nabbed victories in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes at Saturday's district meet to win a berth this weekend's state track meet at Ohio State University.

The Washington C.H. star was clocked at 10.1 in the 100-yard dash and defeated defending state champion of Larry Jackson, of Mifflin, who was second. Storm turned in a 22.8 performance in the 220-yard dash to beat Jackson, the defending district 220 king. Storm placed second to Jackson in both events at the district meet last spring.

The district meet, held under nearly deplorable weather conditions, was a

Stewart wins Grand Prix in Belgium

ZOLDER, Belgium (AP) — Scotland's Jackie Stewart was the first to protest and the first to finish in Sunday's Belgian Grand Prix.

Stewart, the "safety man" among the world's grand prix drivers, led the protest that almost led to cancellation of the race because of a poor track surface.

But when the race was over, on a track still breaking up on critical corners, it was the experienced Stewart, twice world champion, who posted his 24th grand prix victory.

Stewart, driving a Tyrrell Ford at an average speed of 107.73 miles per hour, toured the Zolder circuit in 1 hour, 42 minutes and 13.43 seconds.

"I am particularly delighted because I have equalled the 24 wins of Argentina's Juan Manuel Fangio," Stewart said of the late five-time world champion. "I was a big fan of his."

Stewart added that the loose track surface which the racers had complained about meant "I had to drive very precisely. I had to stay on the exact line through the corner. If you went off the line, you crashed."

Eight of the 23 starters in the race crashed on the same short series of corners. None was injured.

Minnesota Gophers win baseball crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota Gophers, staging a great comeback to win the Big Ten baseball crown, now aim for the NCAA championship.

The Gophers swept a doubleheader from Illinois 7-6 and 10-3 Saturday to storm to the conference championship after getting off to a slow start in splitting their first eight games. The double victory over Illinois ran Minnesota's conference string to 10 victories.

OSBORNE, who won the 880-yard run at the district meet a year ago to gain a spot in the state track meet along with Bob Self and Storm, finished fifth in a speedy field.

But, Osborne established a new Washington C. H. school record with a 2:00.8 performance, shattering a record he set last year at the district meet. The winners of the 880 were clocked in 1:58.2 and 1:58.4 respectively and both were from Mt. Gilead.

Groves turns in big round

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Steve Groves of Ohio State, who looks very much like his golfing idol Jack Nicklaus, stole the show at the 54th Big Ten golf championship Friday and Saturday.

Groves, a chubby, blond senior, took medalist honors with a 76-hole total of 289 to share the spotlight with Indiana University, the team title winner on the Purdue University North Course.

Indiana took 1,484 strokes to win the team title by eight strokes over Ohio State. The Buckeyes took 1,452 strokes, followed by Illinois 1,497, host Purdue 1,501, Michigan State 1,517, Minnesota and Michigan, 1,520 each, Iowa 1,531, Wisconsin 1,575 and Northwestern 1,674.

Groves had to fight off the cold and

Colorful Dave Hill bags Memphis loot

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "I didn't think I could win," Dave Hill said. "I didn't think my nerves would let me win."

"In one ten thousandth of a second I can think of more ways to miss a two-foot putt than there are ways to miss it. But I think that way just because I've been playing bad."

The colorful, controversial veteran, who said his game was "held together by baling wire," missed a two-foot putt on the final hole but his final round 72 was good enough to beat back the challenges of Lee Trevino and a flock of others Sunday in the final round of the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

Hill won it with a 283 total, five-under-par on the hot and sunny 7,193-yard Colonial Country Club course. His total was one better than Trevino, who had a final 70, and Allen Miller, who finished with a 69.

It was Hill's first victory of the year and the fourth of his stormy, 15-year career in this tournament. He previously won in 1967, 1969 and 1970 when the event was played on an older, shorter course.

Trevino, the 1971 and 1972 winner, made a gallant but futile attempt to overtake Hill on the final hole.

Still, he had a major consolation. He picked up $16,187.50 from the total purse of $175,000—enough to boost him past the $1 million mark in career

Junior Chuck Wilson was eliminated in the preliminaries of the long jump, leaping 19 feet, eight inches and the Blue Lions' 880 and mile relay teams were also ousted before the finals. Members of the 880 relay team were Jeff Willis, Kevin Terry, Tom Allen and David Payton and members of the mile relay team were Gene Lyons, Kevin Merritt, Payton and Osborne.

Mt. Gilead won the meet with 62 points, followed by Columbus Mohawk with 53 and Bexley and Columbus DeSales with 52 points apiece. Second-year head coach John Armstrong's Blue Lion thinclads had 22 points.

Running prelims and field events in the state track meet start at 2 p.m. Friday. Saturday's program starts at 9 a.m. with the finals of the field events, with the exception of the pole vault and high jump with a 1 p.m. schedule for the other finals.

The heats committee for the state track meet will meet at 1 p.m. Thursday at the Ohio High School Athletic Association office.

three times because of lightning and the 880-yard run was held in a downpour.

Sophomore Ron Warnock placed seventh in the shot put and senior Gardner Cobb was seventh in the 880-yard run. Ernie Perry placed tenth in the two-mile run.

Always-tough Lancaster won the meet, followed in order by Athens, Dover, Steubenville, Chillicothe, Logan, Marietta, East Liverpool, Zanesville, Wintersville, Jackson, Miami Trace, Cambridge, Meigs and Portsmouth.

Only the winner in each event at the Class AAA district meet advances to the state track meet Saturday at Ohio State.

blustery weather and a challenge by individual runnerup John Harris of Minnesota, who fell two strokes off the pace. The big hole was the 16th on the final round on which Groves took a birdie while Harris left himself 25 feet from the hole with a bad wedge shot and fell two strokes back with a par.

Groves said, "My game peaked for this tournament. My putting and chipping did it for me. This morning, for example, on the first nine, I hit only two greens in regulation but still shot (a par) 35. I lagged the ball well and was making four and five footers all day."

He is the first Buckeye to win the individual title since Nicklaus did it in 1961. Groves shot rounds of 69, 75, 72 and 73 to come in five over par for the tournament.

He now has $1,001,899.47, collected in 176 tournaments since he won his first check, $600, in the 1966 U.S. Open. He joins Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper—none of whom played in this tournament—as the game's only $1 million winners.

Gene Littler, Charley Sifford, Larry Ziegler, Hale Irwin and Dave Glenz tied for fourth at 285, two strokes back. Sifford had a 67, the best round of the day, Ziegler and Glenz 69s and Littler and Irwin 71s.

Secretariat wins Preakness; goes after Belmont June 9

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretariat has set two records this year, and he may have been deprived of a third. The Meadow Stable colt, who was syndicated for a record $6,080,000, and then ran the fastest Kentucky Derby in history, went after another mark in Saturday's Preakness at Pimlico.

Secretariat won the 98th Preakness handily in 1:55, according to the official electric timer, the third best time in history.

But shortly after completion of the 1 3-16 mile classic, the Daily Racing Form reported that two of its veteran clockers, Frank Robinson and Gene Schwartz, had timed Secretariat in 1:53 2-5.

That would have shattered the 1:54 record of Canonero II, set in 1971, and also bettered Nashua's 1:54 3-5 of 1955.

Secretariat's trainer, Lucien Laurin, said he would request a review of the time, but it was doubtful that any adjustment would be made even though Pimlico's official clocker timed the race in 1:54 2-5.

Charles J. "Chick" Lang, Pimlico's general manager, said his investigation of the matter Monday would include a talk with E.T. McLean Jr., the official timer.

McLean, who times the race with a stopwatch in case the electric device malfunctions, can report discrepancies but he failed to inform the stewards of his two-fifths difference Saturday before the time became official.

Regardless of the time, Secretariat took a giant step toward becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Citation in 1948 by winning the race which Laurin said he feared most.

With $805,122 in earnings after winning 11 of 14 career starts, Secretariat can become the ninth Triple Crown champion by winning the Belmont Stakes on June 9.

When Secretariat, Sham and Our Native crossed the finish line Saturday, it marked the first time in history that the Derby order of finish had been duplicated in the Preakness.

Paul Newman finishes 3rd in auto race

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Actor Paul Newman finished third in a 14-car field in the running of a B-sedan automobile race at Nelson Ledges auto track's Cumberland Nationals Sunday.

National champion Bob Sharp of Wilton, Conn., took first in the event, driving the 40-mile event in 31.04.5. Roger Koch of Columbus finished second.

Opening lead - jack of spades.
This deal occurred in the U.S.-Switzerland match in 1968.
When Jordan-Robinson were North-South for the U.S., the bidding went as shown. Four clubs was Gerber, asking for aces, and four spades showed two; five clubs asked for kings and five hearts showed one.

With all the aces and kings accounted for, Jordan bid seven notrump, hoping his diamonds would produce the extra tricks needed for the grand slam.

Exercising his customary wizardry over the cards, Robinson proceeded to make the contract despite the 3-1 diamond break. After winning the spade lead and before tackling the key suit, diamonds, he cashed all his spades, hearts and clubs.

As a result, Robinson learned that West had started the hand with three spades, three hearts and six clubs — and therefore could not have more than one diamond.

Accordingly, Robinson cashed dummy's king of diamonds and continued with a diamond, finessing the ten after East had followed low. The finesse succeeded, of course, and he scored 2,220 points on the deal.

At the other table, the Swiss North-South pair stopped at six notrump, but because declarer could not afford to jeopardize the slam by first cashing the three side suits, he wound up making only six when he played the A-K of diamonds early in the hand.

It is interesting to note that seven diamonds would have gone down one with normal play. Only at seven notrump can declarer afford to test the side suits in order to shed light on the diamonds.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Obesity, Girdles, Panty Hose

My married daughter is about 40 pounds overweight. One day while visiting her I watched her put on her girdle.

While she was pushing in layer after layer of fat she became breathless and her eyes almost popped.

She was furious when I told her that obesity was affecting her health.

Mrs. R. E. W., R.I.

Dear Mrs. W.:

You are right in believing that your daughter's 40 pounds of excess weight is injurious to her health.

You are also correct in your observation that the tight girdle may be putting pressures on vital organs and producing symptoms of compression, while merely re-arranging the position of the fat.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the eminent heart specialist, wrote a wisdom-filled article in the New England Journal of Medicine. "During the last year or two," he said, "I have become acquainted with the tight girdle syndrome, which has fascinated me.

"It arises from the attempts of a rather stout woman to contain herself within some bounds of shapeliness."

Dr. White noted that some patients showed a very active pulsation in the neck which he could not account for because the patient's general condition was excellent, but that the pulsations stopped when a tight girdle was loosened.

He also found that these same patients breathed more easily and felt less "choked up" when the girdle was loosened.

His second interesting observation was that a tight girdle "displaced the diaphragm, the stomach, and esophagus, and caused a variety of symptoms like heartburn and gassy fullness.

His third observation actually showed that when the diaphragm is pushed up, the heart can be displaced from its normal position and that can interfere with its function and with the normal function of the lungs.

Dr. White concluded that "the tight-girdle syndrome is doubtless a residual of the popularity of the wasp waist stylish a couple of generations ago, as pictured in fashion magazines of the epoch.

"Perhaps now that women have been liberated they may also be free of the feeling that they need tight girdles."

Readers, please note: I am told on good authority that panty hose have almost entirely replaced the girdle.

CLINTON COUNTY
CITY WATER

MOBILE HOME PARK DEVELOPERS — One of the most desirable tracts of development land in Southwestern Ohio within one-half mile of Wilmington city limits in Wilmington School District, fronting on state highway 730 with city water running along the entire frontage. Mobile homes containing a minimum of 720 sq. ft. have been approved on the 32 lots containing 20,000 sq. ft. each, fronting on State Route 730 by the Wilmington Zoning Commission and the Clinton County Commissioners. The remaining 73½ acres could be rezoned as a mobile home park with the terrain of this portion of land lending itself toward a central sewage system (cavator). Wilmington and Clinton County needs a modern mobile home park and this tract is ideally situated just outside Wilmington toward Lake Cowan. Present owner building downtown commercial real estate and does not have adequate time to develop this subdivision and has decided to sell it at a price developers cannot afford to pass up. Only $1,500.00 per acre. 80 ACRES — Fronting on State Route 68 approximately one mile south of Wilmington with considerable highway frontage. This tract would also lend itself toward a mobile home park. Present owner cannot see any zoning problem, as it is already zoned industrial reserve. $1,000.00 per acre. 153 ACRES — ZONED INDUSTRIAL — B&O SIDING — Fronting on State Route 68 on the west side and on the east by a blacktop county highway. This is the only available land around Wilmington zoned industrial and it can be purchased at the present time for $1,000.00 per acre.

'Special Child' featured topic at 'workshop'

A special education workshop, held Saturday in Hillsboro, was termed "very successful" by Carl Anders, president of the Council for Exceptional Children and special education teacher at Washington Junior High. He said that Fayette County was well represented.

An introduction by Joseph Todd, of the Ohio Department of Education, Division of Special Education, entitled "What is a Special Child?" opened the program and Paula Pierce, a lobbyist for the Ohio Coalition of Handicapped Children, spoke on the bills now before the Ohio House concerning special education.

The group separated to attend seminars which were relevant to their own particular areas of interest. These seminars covered such topics as the mentally retarded, emotionally and physically handicapped, and the very gifted child.

At the close of the workshop, a business meeting was held to elect new officers. Tom Lynch, of Hillsboro, was named president of the Council for next year, replacing Anders who will remain on the executive committee. Mrs. Maynard Fowler, of 320 Ely St., became committee chairwoman for publicity.

Special speakers who conducted the seminars were: Harry Scott, consultant for program development, Division of Special Education, Ohio Department of Education; Jim Lane, educational specialist, Miami Valley Regional Center for Handicapped Children; Ed Comer, director, Brown County Board of Mental Retardation; and Margaret Terry, teacher of fourth and fifth major work classes, Cleveland City School District.

23 accidents reported; 2 hurt

Two persons, one a pedestrian, were injured in a total of 23 traffic accidents investigated by city police and sheriff's departments over the weekend. Property damage amounted to several thousand dollars.

Donald S. Munro, 10, Rt. 1, Bloomington, is reported in satisfactory condition at Memorial Hospital, recovering from injuries suffered when he was struck by a car on Ohio 41-N at Parrott Station Road Saturday evening.

Sheriff's deputies said Munro and his 12-year-old brother were walking on the east side of the highway when the youth ran onto the pavement into the path of a southbound car driven by Alice Griffin, 47, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville.

The boy was knocked onto an embankment on the west side of the roadway, officers said. He was taken to the hospital by ambulance and later admitted.

Mrs. Griffin was not cited in the 6:26 a.m. mishap.

A MOTORCYCLE UPSET on Old Ohio 207, near Waterloo, Sunday evening, injuring the operator, Russell E. Dilley Jr., 17, Rt. 6.

Sheriff's deputies said Dilley was turning his cycle around at the dead end of the road when the rear wheel dropped over a washed-out berm. He gunned the engine and the cycle upset.

He was released after treatment in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital for wrist and knee injuries.

One driver was cited and damage was listed as heavy in a three-car crash at the intersection of Court and North streets at 3:35 p.m. Saturday.

Police reported a car driven by Cheryl A. Everhart, 17, of 431 E. Paint St., was westbound on Court Street when the traffic light changed to red. She attempted to stop but skidded into the intersection and collided broadside with a car driven by James A. Hemwell, 33, Grove City. The Hemwell car, turning left onto North Street, was shoved into another car driven by Benton E. Park, 58, Jeffersonville, northbound on North Street.

Miss Everhart was cited for a traffic light violation.

BOTH DRIVERS involved in a crash at the intersection of Court and Fayette Streets at 5:33 p.m. Sunday were cited by police.

Terry K. Newman, 26, of 703 John St., was cited for driving while under the influence of alcohol, and Billy E. Stephens, 31, Danville, Ind., was charged with making an improper turn.

Investigating officers said the mishap occurred when the eastbound Stephens car made a left turn onto Fayette Street and pulled into the path of the westbound Newman car.

Both cars were moderately damaged.

Other mishaps investigated were:

SATURDAY

1:16 p.m. — Cars driven by Gary W. Brown, 32, of 820 Columbus Ave., and William H. Sullivan, 49, Lawrenceburg, Ky., were involved in a minor collision at the intersection of Court and Main Streets; damage minor.

1:09 p.m. — Cars driven by Rebecca J. Stockwell, 34, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, and Walter R. Long Jr., 26, Wilmington, were involved in a slight mishap on the Washington Square lot; damage minor.

1:59 p.m. — Cars driven by Barbara A. Jones, 17, Rt. 1, and Jocelyn G. Smalley, 22, of 730 Clinton Ave., collided in the 900 block of Temple St.; damage minor.

6:13 p.m. — Cars driven by John A. Greenzalis, 45, Columbus and Joseph A. Carson, 16, Rt. 1, were involved in a collision on Columbus Ave., just east of Elm Street; damage heavy.

10:30 p.m. — Cars driven by Paul M. Ryder, 56, Pataskala, and Larry F. Pollard, 29, of 324 E. Elm St., collided on Court Street, just west of Main Street; damage moderate.

11:21 p.m. — A minor collision on the Borden Burger lot involving cars driven by Melanie C. Marti, 18, of 512 Columbus Ave., and Donald O. Hapner, 18, Rt. 1, Bloomington; damage slight.

10:25 p.m. — Cars driven by Steven

D. Morris, 21, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, and Danny P. White, 16, of 114 E. Temple St., bumped on the Clark Oil lot, W. Court St.; damage minor.

8:07 p.m. — Cynthia A. Harris, 22, of 705 Rawlings St., was cited for an improper turn after a collision at Court and Fayette Streets with a car driven by Samuel J. Hunt, 59, Sabina; damage moderate.

SUNDAY

12:22 a.m. — A car driven by Hope A. Hatmacher, 20, Rt. 3, was struck in the right front fender by a hitskip driver while parked on the Washington Square lot; damage minor.

Vandalism, theft reports checked during weekend

Several vandalism and minor theft reports kept local law enforcement agencies busy over the weekend.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Roger D. Wilkerson, 24, of Owensboro, Ky., for petty larceny following a failure to pay incident at Stop 35, I-71 and U.S. 35 Saturday evening.

Officers said Wilkerson had his truck filled with 62 gallons of fuel then went into the restaurant to eat. Station attendants said he returned to the truck a few minutes later and drove away without paying for $20 worth of fuel.

Sheriff's deputies apprehended Wilkerson soon afterward, and he was taken to the county jail where he posted $200 bond.

Police said someone apparently attempted to break into the Lucille Bryant home, 624 Rawlings St., early Saturday morning. Officers, called to the scene to investigate a prowler complaint, found two windows at the rear of the home knocked out and the screen door torn off. They said the intruder had not gained entry to the home.

A collector's knife of "unlimited value" was stolen from a display table in the Mahan Building Sunday afternoon. Sheriff's deputies said Col. Robert Mayes, of Middlesboro, Ky., reported the knife was apparently stolen by a youth who was handling items on the table during the collector show.

Robert Nordin, of 244 Belle Ave., reported a 21-inch television set was stolen from a CCC Highway-E home sometime during the past week. The set was valued at $60.

A window on a DT&I locomotive was knocked out by youths throwing rocks, Leroy Hainer, D.T. & I. yardmaster reported. He told sheriff's deputies the window was knocked out at the McMillip Road crossing, north of Jeffersonville by children throwing rocks at the engine.

Paul Holtschulte, manager of Hunt's Trailer Court, Bloomington, reported that someone had removed a change machine from the laundromat. There was an unknown amount of change removed.

A window at the Dixie Mickle residence, 1036 Willard St., was knocked out Sunday afternoon. Damage was set at $5.

Daryl Hanby Jr., of 901 Washington Ave. reported that 40 gallons of gasoline had been siphoned from the tank of his car at various times during the past six days. The car was parked at his residence at the time.

Baccalaureate rites at MTHS

A full auditorium of parents and friends greeted graduating seniors at Miami Trace High School Sunday night during baccalaureate exercises.

The class of 212 seniors, led by President Glenn Gifford and Vice President Stephan (Muff) Jones, entered the auditorium to the strains of "Grand March" and were seated in the center section.

Following the invocation by Rev. Elmer E. Burrall, of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church and two songs by the Folksingers, the Rev. Gerald R. Wheat, of First Presbyterian Church, gave the Scripture reading and class sermon.

Rev. Mr. Wheat urged the seniors to be useful to society and "not be bums looking for a handout". He told the seniors that most of them had already set the patterns for their lives. He urged them to take stock in themselves and become useful members of society. Rev. Mr. Burrall closed the ceremonies with the benediction.

The first "Buckeye" to fly was Thomas Kirkby, a Cincinnati resident, who went up in a balloon from the "Queen City" to near Williamsburg in Clermont County. He traveled 31 miles in less than an hour on Dec. 15, 1834.

'Blue laws' repeal bid still alive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill which could do away with Ohio's Sunday "blue laws" gets a committee hearing Tuesday before the House Agriculture, Commerce and Labor Committee.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69, Maumee, was introduced because, he said, "the blue laws are unenforceable and are being totally ignored all around the state."

Galbraith introduced the same legislation in 1969, but was voted down. The measure has come to life after gathering dust since January, possibly due to the liberal mood seen among voters with their approval of the May 8 lottery amendment.

Ohio has had Sunday closing laws since 1788 when it was part of the Northwest Territory which prohibited "servile labor" during that year. In 1805, after Ohio became a state, the word "servile" was changed to "common" and the ban extended to "sporting, gaming, rioting, quarreling, hunting, horse racing, shooting and the disturbance of worship."

Repeat attempts on the law were made several times in the last decade, but defeated each time. Ohioans refused to withdraw the blue laws in a statewide question in 1962.

Galbraith said the "time is here" for a repeal. He noted the increased number of businesses remaining open on Sunday and the absence of enforcement.

In other business, Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-Dayton, said he is looking for approval this week in the House Local Government and Urban Affairs Committee of his Senate-okayed impacted cities bill.

The measure would authorize municipalities under special arrangements to use private capital to wipe out slums and redevelop deteriorating urban areas.

Hall said he feels the bill can receive positive committee action Tuesday night, but admits he is concerned about its fate on the House floor.

Conservatives may oppose a portion of the bill which permits private development corporations to use the power of eminent domain to acquire land, he said.

An attempt to reach a compromise on the political battle over a bill to create a state lottery commission will occur Tuesday afternoon when a joint conference committee of the Senate and House meets.

The committee has been formed to solve the differences between the chambers on how proceeds from the lottery will be used.

An amendment approved by the voters on May 8 marked the profits for the general revenue fund.

Republicans have insisted the proceeds be used to provide more property tax relief while Democrats reportedly would like to use a portion of the money to pay off bonds to finance Vietnam War veterans' bonus.

High Court curbs integration power

WASHINGTON (AP)—An equally divided Supreme Court today affirmed a lower court order that held federal district courts powerless to cross school boundaries in pursuit of desegregation.

The decision came in a case from Richmond, Va. There was no opinion from the court and no word as to how its members voted. An equally divided court automatically affirms a lower court decision.

Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., a long-time member of the Richmond school board, did not take part in setting up the four-four split.

In January of 1972, U.S. District Court Judge Robert Merhige Jr. ordered the predominantly black Richmond city school system combined with the predominantly white systems

Defiance College top honor awarded to Donald Bennett

Donald Eugene Bennett, son of Mrs. Pauline D. Sanders, 111 West St., Bloomingburg, was presented Defiance College's highest award, the Pilgrim Medal, at commencement exercises Sunday when he received the Bachelor of Science degree in political science cum laude (with honors).

The medal, which is awarded in bronze to a senior and in silver in the alumnus and citizen categories, has been presented to such notables as Pearl Buck, Jackie Robinson, and former President Dwight Eisenhower. Endowed in 1960 by the late Edward M. Arnos, the medal commemorates the Pilgrim qualities of reliance in self, pride in work, courage in conscience, strength in education and faith in God.

Bennett, a graduate of Miami Trace High School, has served as president of Theta Xi fraternity; resident assistant for a men's residence hall; representative to the Inter-Fraternity Council and as a member of Student Council and the President's Hosts. He played basketball two years and served as president of Alpha Chi honorary society.

Quash request came from Haldeman, Solons told

CIA memo links Nixon to coverup

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee was told today that former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman told CIA officials "it is the President's wish" that the CIA approach the FBI to discourage an investigation related to the Watergate case.

Richard Helms, former CIA director, confirmed to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the statement was made in a memo by his deputy director, Lt. Gen. Vernon Walters, following a meeting between Walters and acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray.

The memo was first disclosed at an open hearing by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., concerning a meeting on June 23, 1972 at the White House involvings Walters, Helms, Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

Symington said that in the memo furnished only last Saturday to the Senate Armed Services Committee, Walters reported that Haldeman turned to Walters and said, "It is the President's wish that you go to see Mr. Gray."

Helms said he was in the room but does not recall on his own whether Haldeman used the President's authority specifically.

Helms did say, however, that when instructions are from the White House chief of staff, it is assumed that it had adequate authority behind it.

Helms testified that he did not at the time know about any money that might have been "laundered" through Mexico.

He said he did not understand "to this day" why Haldeman selected Walters, rather than Helms himself, to make the approach to Gray to inform the FBI that pursuit of its investigation of the Mexican angle of the Watergate affair might jeopardize CIA covert operations in Mexico.

Helms said he himself felt no concern about such a point and tried to modify the approach to Gray in a subsequent conversation with Walters.

Helms said he told Walters it would be proper to inform the new FBI director of an operating arrangement between the CIA and the FBI that when any investigations overlapped, the other agency should be notified.

Helms said that his sole concern at the time was that the CIA should be kept out of the Watergate affair entirely.

Helms said he does not know if his reluctance to have the CIA involved in Watergate played a role in his abrupt departure as CIA chief.

He said the reasons for his departure were contained in a conversation he had with President Nixon. He said Watergate was not brought up in that conversation but that the restraints of executive privilege bar him from saying what he discussed with the President.

"Frankly, I wanted to stay as head of the agency to continue to keep it out," Helms said.

He told the committee, "I did not know" whether his refusal to cooperate with the White House in domestic affairs was responsible for his new assignment as ambassador to Iran.

The committee session was abruptly opened to the press and public after Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said news articles pointing out apparent conflicts in what Helms told the committee in February and what he now says are tantamount to "perjury."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin says it is more important for his Senate Watergate investigating committee to publicize the whole truth about the scandal "than it is to get one or two people sent to jail."

Ervin, responding to questions whether the Senate probe could impede later prosecutions, said the Justice Department could have tried cases before last November's election.

"The whole case could have been broken open long before this time and I don't think the case ought to be further delayed," the North Carolina Democrat said Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Asked about possible dangers through headlines based on hearsay testimony, Ervin said, "I don't think there can be much more effective publicity in this case than has thus far been."

"I am not sure what would have happened in this case if there hadn't been a lot of publicity."

Though the investigating committee does not resume its televised hearings until Tuesday, other Senate committees deal with aspects of the case today.

Mitchell, Stans plead innocent

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans pleaded innocent today to charges of perjury, conspiracy and obstructing a federal investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco.

Mitchell, Stans, Vesco and former New Jersey Republican leader Barry D. Sears were named in a federal indictment May 10 that grew out of a secret $200,000 contribution from Vesco to President Nixon's reelection campaign.

Sears, who with Vesco was charged with conspiracy and obstruction of justice, also pleaded innocent today before U.S. District Court Judge John M. Cannella. Vesco left the country more than two months ago and subsequently ignored a subpoena.

Scott Jacoby, 16, was named best supporting actor in a drama for the ABC movie "That Certain Summer," in which he played a youth trying to cope with his father's homosexuality.

Mary Tyler Moore was named best actress in a comedy, and two performers on her "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," Ted Knight and Valerie Harper, were named best supporting players.

Miss Moore earlier won two Emmys in her appearance on the old "Dick Van Dyke Show."

Watergate affects world money marts

Gold soars; dollar at new low

LONDON (AP) — Gold soared to record prices in Europe today and the U.S. dollar dropped to new lows as a result of speculation that the Watergate scandal would force President Nixon to resign.

In Zurich, gold shot to a record $113 an ounce, up $7.50 from Friday's close

17 acquitted in draft case

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — A jury has acquitted 17 persons of charges stemming from a raid on a draft board even though the defendants admitted participating and FBI agents caught many of them at the office.

Members of the federal court jury were not immediately available for comment on the verdict. But it was believed that testimony from an FBI informer and the trial judge's comments about "over-reaching participation by government agents" were major factors in the decision.

The seven men and five women returned the innocent verdicts in U.S. District Court on Sunday, the fourth day of their deliberations in the case of the "Camden 28."

The acquittal was greeted by shouts of joy and applause from friends and relatives of the 17 Vietnam war protesters, who had been on trial since Feb. 5.

Weather and $2.50 above the record set there last Tuesday.

Swiss banks, which buy and sell for Middle East oil interests, international corporations and wealthy individuals, have been active in the gold market in the past two weeks.

In London, the world's biggest bullion center, gold was traded at $112.50 an ounce, up $7 from Friday's close. The previous record in London, set last Tuesday, was $111.

TRAGEDY BEGINS — Would-be rescuers find their own lives in jeopardy as their boat is swept over the Cedar River Dam at Waverly, Iowa. Volunteer fireman Jim Longmuir, in water below dam was drowned moments later when the boat lost its power and snagged the line between Longmuir and Darrell Wehrham, standing on the dam holding line attached to Longmuir. The man they were trying to save survived.

Skylab crew practices mission

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Faced with a tight schedule to meet a Friday launch date, Skylab astronauts and engineers today worked on procedures for erecting a gold and white sun shade that might save the damaged space station.

A tentative flight plan calls for an astronaut on the first day in space to lean out the hatch of the Apollo ferry ship and attempt to dislodge at least one of two power-producer solar panels that might be jammed.

On the second day, after docking with the orbiting laboratory, the three astronauts would try to deploy a giant shade to cool down the sunbaked craft and protect it from solar heat.

The favored method is to push an umbrella-type device through an opening from inside the workshop. If this is not possible, a space walk deployment of a separate shield will be attempted.

If the shade can be erected, the space agency believes there is a good chance astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz can carry out a full 28-day mission. But medical, scientific and earth resources experiments will have to be curtailed.

Activity today, now that most work on the sun shades is completed, triggers four days of fast-moving events aimed at launching the astronauts at 9 a.m. EDT Friday on man's first space salvage operation.

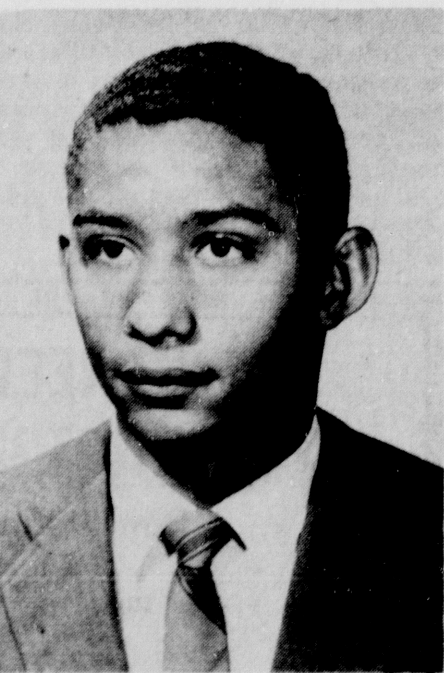

"The schedule is awfully tight," one official said. "There's a lot to do and there's a possibility we might have to postpone another five days. But we're hoping for Friday."

Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz are to fly to Cape Kennedy Tuesday night and two sun shields and associated hardware are to be delivered here Wednesday. After evaluation, a decision will be made Thursday on whether to proceed with the launching or to again delay it.

During the weekend, mission control purged the 85-ton laboratory of its nitrogen-oxygen atmosphere, believed to have been polluted with potentially deadly gases discharged by hot foam plastic insulation in the cabin.

In case some pockets of toxic gas remain, the astronauts will carry gas masks and "sniffing" devices like those used by miners. If gas is detected, additional purges will be necessary.

Average temperatures inside the overheated workshop, the main section of the station, climbed from 105 to 115 degrees Sunday.

Boat sinks; 12 are dead

NARRAGANSETT, R.I. (AP) — Coast Guard crews and state police resumed their search today for missing passengers from a chartered fishing boat which sank Saturday, killing at least 12 persons.

Eleven persons survived the sinking and four or five remained unaccounted for, officials said. The boat, the Comet, went down Saturday morning, seven miles south of Point Judith in Narragansett Bay.

Some of the survivors said some passengers had doubted the seaworthiness of the Comet, a converted ferry, and had wanted to return to land.

The search for other survivors or bodies of the missing passengers was suspended Sunday night for the first time since noon Saturday when the sinking was reported.

Some passengers clung to rafts and debris in 50-degree ocean water for about five hours before they were rescued.

The boat's captain and owner, William Jackson of Cumberland, died in the accident.

Mrs. Loto Fern Peterson

Mrs. Neil Peterson, 83, a former resident of Washington C. H., died Sunday in Bradenton, Fla. She came to Washington C. H. 18 years ago from Cincinnati.

H. resident, died Friday in the Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center.

Pallbearers for the burial in New Holland Cemetery were Dwight Fenner, Ralph Garrison and Bennett, John Albert, Robert and Harry Junk.

The News In Brief

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Clyde Weyer, 69, and his 81-year-old sister-in-law, Martha McClusky, were murdered Sunday night by two intruders who stole $35 from their home, police reported.

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — An Antwerp woman, 26-year-old Susan Nelson, was killed and her 49-year-old aunt, Glenna Carpenter of Defiance, seriously wounded during a shooting in the parking lot of Ayersville High School, the Defiance County Sheriff's office said.

The sheriff's office said the two women were leaving graduation ceremonies at the school Sunday when Mrs. Carpenter's estranged husband, Bernard, allegedly jumped from a car and shot them.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A hijacked Venezuelan airliner returned safely to Caracas Sunday night with 25 passengers and five crewmen aboard despite the government's refusal to ransom it with 79 prisoners.

Three armed men and a woman took over the twin-engine Convair Friday evening on a domestic flight to the capital. They threatened to blow up the plane and all aboard unless the government freed the 79 persons the hijackers said were political prisoners. But when the government refused even to negotiate, the hijackers settled for a flight to Havana.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today it had learned that the White House created in 1970 a group called the Intelligence Evaluation Unit to spy on radical and antiwar groups.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration budget proposals would mean a 40 per cent loss in federal funds for new medical research in areas other than cancer and heart and lung disease, the Association of American Medical Colleges said today.

Severestorms pound Plains; 18 are injured

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Severe thunderstorms packing hail battered the Southern Plains early today. Showers and thunderstorms popped up at scattered locations across the nation.

A tornado — the latest of several in the nation's midsection and southern states over the weekend — was sighted in extreme western Oklahoma just before midnight. Little damage was done by the latest twister.

Heavy rains drenched the Texas Panhandle Sunday night. Six to 8 inches of water was running in the streets of Lefores, in the Panhandle.

Showers and thundershowers dampened areas over the Central Plateau and Central Rockies, reaching out for the north and central Plains and the northern Mississippi Valley.

Showers lingered on the North Carolina coast, and rain, drizzle and fog clung to the northeastern states. Some heavy rainfall washed southern New England with more than an inch at Providence, R.I., and Falmouth, Mass.

Elsewhere, skies were fair and temperatures generally in the 50s and 60s.

Late Sunday morning a tornado hit about three miles east of Elizabeth City, N.C., cutting a 30-foot swath through a wooded area, toppling several barns, trees, power lines and a mobile home.

Twisters and severe thunderstorms hit northern Alabama Saturday, where at least 18 persons were injured in Lovelace, Section and Fort Payne. At least six funnel clouds touched down in Indianapolis, one stopping the Indianapolis 500 auto race time trials temporarily.

Tornadoes, hail and heavy rains hit a broad spectrum from Arkansas to the southern east coast Saturday, but no personal deaths or major injuries occurred.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 35 at Butte, Mont., to 84 at Phoenix, Arizona.

Clear skies and almost no chance of rain are forecast through Tuesday as a high pressure area dominates the state's weather.

The low that brought rain to Ohio over the weekend had moved to the New England coast this morning. The rain that fell across Ohio Saturday and early Sunday ended over eastern parts of the state around noon.

Skies were generally clear over the state Sunday afternoon, and highs ranged from 56 at Youngstown to 71 at Toledo.

Lows dipped to the 40s across the state overnight.

Highs today were forecast from the mid 60s to low 70s under sunny skies. Lows tonight are expected to reach the 40s and low 50s, and highs Tuesday the 70s and low 80s.

The extended forecast calls for generally mild weather with a chance of showers later in the week.

Highs Wednesday through Friday in the 70s. Lows in the 50s Wednesday and in the 60s Thursday and Friday. A chance of showers.

Stock list slides again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, beset by Watergate worries as well as economic and monetary uncertainties, continued to give ground today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 7.08 at 888.09. Declining issues swamped those advancing by an 1,161-to-219 margin in relatively active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the market appeared to be in the grip of some persistent depressing influences, including the Watergate case and the belief that it had shaken confidence in the U.S. dollar.

Until some of the issues raised by the case are resolved, "I would imagine that, subject to some technical corrections, we have some rough times ahead," said Martin I. Goodfriend at Bruns, Nordemann & Co.

On the American Stock Exchange, the noon price change index showed a 20 decline at 22.61.

The NYSE's noon index of more than 1,500 common stocks was off 0.63 at 54.33.

Shotgun blast hits prof's home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A shooting incident at the home of a second Ohio State University professor is being investigated by suburban Upper Arlington police.

Authorities said a shotgun blast shattered the front picture window at the home of professor Walter W. Seifert Friday.

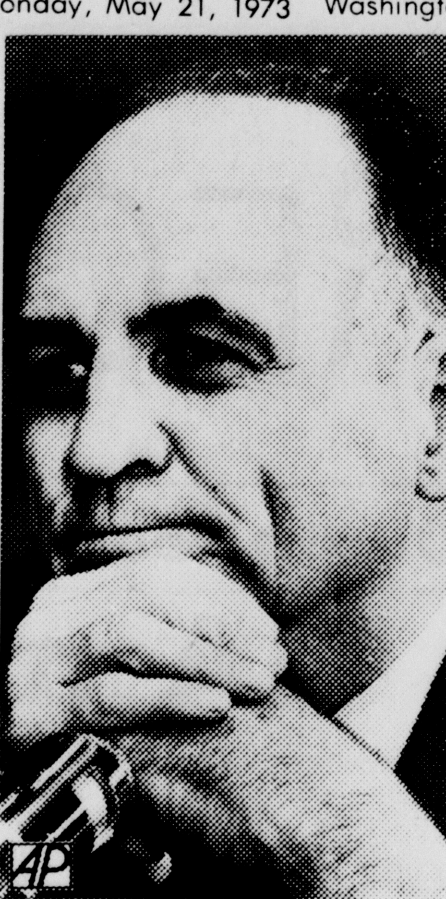

There was no apparent connection between the incident and one at the home of Dr. Osborn T. Smallwood May 9, when a .22 caliber bullet was fired through the garage and a breakfast room at the home, police said.

Officers said they felt it might have been a scare tactic by someone who disagrees with Seifert's conservative political views.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Gabriel Kaplan, a young comedian, recently made the first television appearance of his life the right way. First, he appeared on NBC's "Tonight Show." Then he brought the house down.
His weapon was a sharp, funny monologue about a geriatric "Dating Game," preceded by an explanation of what he did to settle his personal doubt over whether he was an adopted child.
"I finally made up my mind to ask," he said, "So I went up to my father and I said, 'Ling Chou?'"
His guest shot led to another "Tonight" booking for June, a scheduled appearance on NBC's "Midnight Special" and talk of doing a record. It's a good start, but he's been preparing for it six years.
How does a guy get into the comedy business, anyway?
"Are you ready for this?" he asked. "I was a baseball player."
It turns out that Kaplan, 27, was signed right out of high school to play left and center field for Amarillo, the Texas League farm club of the San Francisco Giants.
He played for two years, batted .304 in his first season and began looking around for another line of work the second year when his batting average dropped and his throwing arm began hurting.
"Then I started writing a little bit for comedians," he said. "I came back to New York during the off-season and tried writing and performing. I guess that's when I got the performing bug." His first paying job — at $125 for a week's work — came during the Christmas holidays of 1967. He played the fabulous Chez Paree Club in Waterville, Maine. He came back to New York $50 in the red.

He later moved to Miami and worked local clubs as well as Playboy clubs around the country. He also collaborated on an album with impressionist David Frye.
He was booked on "Tonight" after a talent coordinator from the show caught his act at the Improvisation, a small night spot here.
An essentially serious man off-stage, Kaplan is lavish in his praise of his fellow struggling performers. And he's visibly anguished when they bomb, like one was bombing on "Tonight" a few nights after his successful appearance on the show.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Rebirth of Shanghai: tribute to Mao

SHANGHAI — Ships of a hundred nations ply the busy port of this, the largest city on the Asian continent. Flying the flags of Norway, Somali, Liberia, The Netherlands, they create a traffic jam in the Huang Pu estuary that gives onto the China Sea.

The rebirth of Shanghai as a principal manufacturing center and China's leading port is one of the most remarkable transformations to occur since Chiang Kai-shek took a ship from here in 1949 to escape to his island retreat of Taiwan.

Shanghai was the prime example of China's degradation, the Western powers having seized choice areas of the city where they ruled as proconsuls over a subject people. While the famous Bund with its tall European buildings has a familiar look, this is the New China.

The vigor, the optimism, the drive are abundantly evident in the medium-sized shipyard that is beginning to turn out 10,000-ton ocean-going freighters. And Chang Hui-teh, one of the 31 members of the Revolutionary Standing Committee that administers the yard, is the embodiment of the forces that have made the new China.

CHANG, 32 years old, 5 feet tall, slight, with an infectious cheerful smile, explains every detail of the operation of the yard as he guides us through a maze of men and machines. On a berth extended by 40 feet to take a 10,000-ton freighter the prow of a smaller ship is being lowered into place with a crane that Chang says proudly has a 100-ton lift. He is one of a special committee of five to handle production problems.

But, when it came to moving from 3,000-ton tug boats to the big ocean-going vessels, he stresses that a series of meetings with most of the work force generated the ideas that gave them a head start.

The stress everywhere is on "the masses" and what they contribute to progress. The yard has a work force of 7,000, of whom 1,400 are women. While some are record-keepers for the most part, they do the same hard work as the men.

With us on our tour was Mrs. Heng Chao-fang, iron-gray hair and a rather severe face that lights up with her smile. She is in charge of the office staff.

Chang fairly bursts with pride showing us through a newly commissioned 10,000-ton freighter. Separate cabins for every two crewmen are of generous size with two bunks, wash stand and closets for personal possessions. Navigational equipment, all of it made in China, is the latest in electronic guidance.

ABOUT to take an initial trial run before the final fitting out, the ship is powered by 10,000-horsepower diesel engines. The engines are made in a plant in the yard for the vessels built in the yard. The next step is to a 25,000-ton freighter with diesel engines of 20,000 horsepower.

Another yard has made such a ship, the Chengchow, and Chang is bent on moving up to that level. His yard has already turned out five 10,000-ton vessels.

Inevitably, as he briefs the American visitor, ideology comes in. Liu Shao-chi, designated before his fall as Mao Tse-tung's heir, had favored buying ships abroad, rather than building them in China. This was contrary to Mao's doctrine of self-reliance and so in 1969, with the impetus of the Cultural Revolution, the building of large ocean-going vessels began.

It is not, Chang adds, that China may not decide to buy some ships from abroad or parts for building ships at home. But what you see in this beehive of energy proves out Mao's doctrine.

Choosing a name for the first of the five 10,000-tonners was a decision of the first importance. Discussion running through the entire force went on for several days. Finally, the name Feng Lai was agreed to. It is translated roughly as storm and thunder.

THIS WAS the beginning of the Feng series. Directly across the Huang Pu from the shipyard is the loading and unloading dock of District No. 5. Six separate docks accommodate vessels totaling 610,000 tons. With three shifts working night and day, a 15,000-ton freighter can be loaded or unloaded in three days.

The pressure is always on, as traffic moves up the Huang Pu, with the effort to cut waiting time to a minimum.

On the dock, as in the shipyard, the pace seems tempered by a sense of participation. These are a friendly, curious people, obviously pleased that a foreigner should have come to see what they have accomplished thus far, who give every appearance of believing in their future.

For anyone who had seen the squalid misery of the old Shanghai, gilded by a thin surface of the rich and the fortunate, this rebirth must seem little short of a miracle. But it is a miracle of hard, patient, never-ending work fired by an ideological belief as never ending in its diffusion as the work itself.

Hal Boyle . . . Jumping to conclusions

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

The honeymoon is really over when a husband can kiss his wife without losing his train of thought.

The only difference between a love nest and a jail is that both inmates get to keep keys to the place.

If you meet a man with one arm shorter than the other, you can bet he probably broke it during his growing years. A break at that time will often leave a shortened arm.

There's nothing less rewarding than scratching a bald head.

The easiest way to make an enemy of a fat man is to pat him on the stomach every time you meet him. He rightly regards it as an act of condescension and superiority.

It isn't true that people talk about the weather but do nothing about it. They did do something about it: they invented air conditioning. The two things that people actually talk the most about and do the least about are sex and taxes.

The majority of people aren't evil. They aren't particularly set on destroying the other fellow. They just don't want him to get in their way. If he doesn't do that, they won't usually go to the trouble of trying to cut him down. After 50, an overweight woman spends more time worrying about her feet than about men.

Morale is always at its lowest point in a factory or office in which the employees get more fun out of the work they duck than the work they do.

One of the things I've always wanted to see but never have is for a man to light up and smoke a big four-bit cigar during a funeral service.

One of the people I've always wanted to meet is a fellow who as a kid actually brought a live frog to school and put it down the back of the little girl seated at the desk in front of him. This never happened at any school I ever went to.

Men are letting women influence the way they dress so much lately — flowery shirts, fancier ties, higher heeled shoes — that soon some of them will probably start wearing lacy socks with ruffles at the top. This isn't just a prediction — it's a conviction.

An old-timer is a man who can remember when the motto of womanhood was "death before dishonor." Most of the people under 30 today don't know what the phrase means.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Hung up by husband's fight against jury duty

DEAR ABBY: I was called for jury duty and was really looking forward to serving, but when I told my husband, he said: "You HAVE to get out of it!" I asked him why and he couldn't give me a good reason, he just demanded that I get out of it.

Abby, I think it would be a good experience for me. Furthermore, I regard it as my civic duty. My children are in high school, and it wouldn't be a hardship for me.

I know you are all for keeping peace in the family, but I honestly think my husband is wrong in demanding that I get out of serving on a jury. So how do I defend my position? Sign me "HUNG."

DEAR HUNG: You're right when you say it's your "civic duty." I hope your husband never faces serious accusations, but ask him how he'd feel if he did and were tried by a judge alone because all his neighbors and fellow citizens shirked their responsibility to sit in judgment on his case. Then tell him to read the Declaration of Independence, and he will be reminded that one of his forefathers' complaints against the tyranny of King George was denial of jury trials. If your husband persists in the tyranny of denying you the right to serve on a jury, declare your own civil independence. It is one of only two public services a citizen is called upon to perform; the other is voting.

DEAR ABBY: We met an attractive couple at the home of mutual friends. They seemed nice and quite eager to be friendly. The woman called and invited us to their home for dinner. The morning of the evening we were to go there the wife called and asked me what size SHOE my husband wore. I was surprised at such a peculiar question, and asked her why she wanted to know. She said, "We have oysterwhite carpeting and don't want it soiled, so I'm providing all the guests with house slippers."

When I told my husband about this I had a hard time getting him to go. We had a pleasant evening, and all the guests kind of laughed at exchanging their shoes for house slippers at the door. My husband was uncomfortable in those silly slippers and the other men kept passing "looks" back and forth throughout the evening.

It didn't really bother me, but I wonder if you would ask your guests to do such a thing? Or is she a kook?

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: I wouldn't, but that doesn't mean that she's a "kook." To each his own. And in Japan it's the thing to do.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning a 3 p.m. church wedding. I will wear a long white wedding gown and veil, and everyone in the wedding party will be in formal attire.

The groom, who is a Baptist minister, insists on wearing a white business suit! My mother is having hysterics and says only a tuxedo will do. I'd rather have him wear a tuxedo, but I feel it's his wedding, too, and he should be able to wear what he wants.

What is your opinion?

THE BRIDE
DEAR BRIDE: If the groom is to be correctly attired, he should wear formal wedding clothes, but if he insists upon wearing a white suit, the world won't come to an end if he does. (He must be a "Good-Humored" Baptist minister.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO D. AND T. IN HIGHLAND PARK: When you're stuck you're stuck. Use tact. (Tact is the art of making your guest feel at home when you wish they were.)

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

Dissenting voice on New York Times

Critics would have you believe that the "Eastern establishment" press — meaning such dominant dailies as the New York Times and the Washington Post — speaks with one voice on foreign and military affairs.

The critics are roughly correct in their contention that there is an isolationist drift. Day after day the big editorial and columnistic guns on the bellwether Times insist that the time of the Cold War has passed.

The Times' Tom Wicker and Anthony Lewis live in an essentially pacifist world; their priorities are prison reform, the chastisement of the military-industrial complex, the withdrawal of our bombers from the skies of Cambodia. Ecological purity means far more to them than the need for expanded defense projects and the discovery of new energy sources.

But while Wicker, Lewis and Scotty Reston take their eyes off the Russian geological research teams that are combining the Middle East while the Soviet navy builds its strength in the Indian Ocean and Persian Gulf, a Times veteran, Drew Middleton, quietly undercuts the big-bow-wows who dominate the editorial and op. ed. pages of his paper.

MIDDLETON, who was once the Times man at the U.N., has succeeded to Hanson Baldwin's old job as the Times military correspondent. He has just published a book, "Retreat from Victory," that laments the growth of the isolationist mood in the U.S. The theme of the book indicates that he is at intellectual odds with all the favored Establishment journalists who make the so-called liberal opinion of the day.

The Times, to its credit, does not presume to tell Mr. Middleton what he should write about the Pentagon. On the other hand, it doesn't listen to him when it comes to formulating official editorial policy.

Middleton, who gets around the U.S., has been trying to tell his bosses that we are going the way of France in the 1936-40 period. The Eastern elite once supported a vigorous international policy. But in recent years an "erosion" has set in.

Says Mr. Middleton, "Young Wall Street lawyers who sought jobs in the State Department or Defense or the CIA a generation ago to make their contribution to the reordering of the world today are more concerned about saving the environment or providing legal help in the ghettos."

The military is actually derided in the East and on the Pacific Coast. Not so in the South and the Middle West, which still believe in our Army and Navy despite the universal desire to withdraw from foreign commitments. While Mr. Middleton thinks that the heart of the country would prove sound in any emergency, the prevalent attitude in the Ivy League institutions of the East bothers him.

The Ivy League "elite," he says, "has led the rush to opt out of responsibility to the country. Many of those who did, who became instructors and assistant professors, remain in the universities and colleges probably still preaching that a man owes his country nothing if what his country asks of him will be uncomfortable or dangerous or not in line with his own immature views of what American policy should be."

IN OUR PRESENT national frame of mind, Mr. Middleton wonders whether we have the will to "fulfill our commitments" to NATO or the ANZUS agreement with Australia and New Zealand, to say nothing of Israel or the Latin American states. He fears that, as our 200th anniversary as a nation approaches, we may be about "to sink gradually into a comfortable senescence, paying lip service to the ideals whose pursuit once made us great."

Much has been written, he says, about "the overextension of power and the diffusion of national energy since World War II." But this sort of complaint, which is popular with Sen. J. William Fulbright, is an "excuse for inaction."

"It is the refusal to try," says Mr. Middleton in his summing up, "that betrays us today . . . If we face the challenges of the coming years in that frame of mind, we are finished."

Query Number One to the New York Times: Would it not be enlightening to Times readers to ask the Messrs. Wicker, Reston and Lewis to comment on Mr. Middleton's book in their op. ed. page columns? And Query Number Two: Would it not also be a service to give Mr. Middleton an op. ed. column of his own?

Money and the military: Part 1

Defense Department waste still in billions

"At all times we must be conscious of the money that we are spending and get the absolute maximum value for every dollar we spend," Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements has said. How well the Defense Department is doing that job is explored in this first of a five-part series from The AP Special Assignment Team.

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has asked Congress for nearly $35 billion to buy and build things next year. If next year is like last year and most years before that, almost a billion of those dollars will be wasted.

On weapons that don't work. On planes that won't fly. On ships that never sail.

Quite likely, those fiscal fiascos will be accompanied by cost overruns, production underruns and delivery delays that pour several billions more of the taxpayers' dollars down the defense drain.

It's been like that for a long time, almost since man abandoned his horse and musket for airplanes and missiles, and weapons systems began their dizzying climb in complexity and cost. And sometimes outright waste.

For instance, in the past decade, the value of weapons programs that were simply abandoned, without any usable hardware at all to show for the time and effort, totaled $7 billion.

Government accountants recently completed an audit of 45 major weapons systems under development and found cost overruns of $31.5 billion—39 per cent—over original estimates. When overruns on spare parts and support equipment for those systems are included, the figure is closer to $35 billion.

Some defense experts warily suggest there may be a light at the end of the tunnel.

Others say they've heard that line before.

"Our biggest problem is that we play games," says Gordon Rule, one of the Navy's top civilian procurement specialists and a frequent critic of procurement practices.

"The contractors play games with the Defense Department. The Defense Department plays games with Congress. I have grave doubts that anybody can stop it."

In the last few years, in an attempt to stop the games or at least to make them less horrible, the Defense Department has undertaken a major overhaul of procurement procedures. Nobody, not even the authors of the changes, is prepared to say at this point that things are all fixed up, but they say they see improvement.

An Associated Press study of the nation's defense contracting practices—what Gordon Rule calls games—has found:

—Some of the procurement scandals

of recent years resulted from what is now generally conceded to be a faulty buying concept initiated during the Kennedy administration. The concept, called total package procurement, was aimed at saving money. But it forced contractors to mass-produce items at the same time the items were being developed. The result was assembly-line foupals the likes of which American industry seldom sees.

—The number of new defense and space projects has fallen drastically in the past few years, slashing the business base of the nation's giant defense-aerospace industry. Some contractors have been so eager for business that they deliberately bid low on projects just to win the contracts. They knew from precedent that when their low bids got them into financial trouble, the Defense Department would bail them out.

—The Defense Department has begun a new policy called fly-before-you-buy, aimed at cutting costs and improving the end product. The Pentagon thinks it will work. The Congress thinks it will work. The contractors think it will work. But nobody uses it.

—Many officials of the largest defense-aerospace industrial empires say they feel their industry is due for a shakeout. They say there is not enough business to sustain the dozen or so largest defense-aerospace companies and that, through merger or bankruptcy or a combination thereof, some are going to have to go.

The basic problem in the defense procurement process is that it doesn't operate very efficiently doing what sounds like a relatively simple job: identifying and defining a defense need and a weapons system to cover that need; amassing the technology the system requires; developing that system and then producing it.

Somewhere between the idea and the reality, somebody's been messing up. Most visible among the messes are those $7 billion worth of programs the Defense Department has abandoned in the past decade. They included projects where the military finally concluded it couldn't get what it wanted, or couldn't make what it wanted work right, or couldn't afford the thing after it was developed.

WHS Class of 1923 holds first class reunion

The Washington High School Class of 1923 held a reunion at the Lafayette Inn Saturday night — its first and fiftieth. There were fifty-six members and guests present for the occasion.

Upon their arrival, the guests were greeted by the class president, Russell Giebelhouse, and Mrs. Giebelhouse, Miss Jane Jefferson, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Estle Steele, and received identification cards. The graduates received cards with their pictures taken from the high school annual of 1923.

Preceding the buffet dinner at 7 o'clock, punch was served while the group mingled and renewed acquaintances. The invocation was given by Kenneth Chaney.

Following the dinner, Mr. Giebelhouse, who served as master of ceremonies for the evening, welcomed the members of the class, former teachers and guests.

Portia Brownell Erick, class historian, reading from her original manuscript, recounted the vicissitudes and joys of the class, from its freshman through the senior year.

Gladys Griffith Weaver paid tribute to the members of the class who are deceased. As she read each name, a Columbian rose, the class flower, with the member's name on it, was arranged appropriately in a vase. Those so memorialized were: Nelle Arnold Stuckey, Irene Cooper, Hazel Frye, Frank Hamilton, Marjorie Kanable, Helen Karney Riggins, Kathryn Keane, Paul Kinnen, Clyde Larimer, Christine Meier, Willard Mitchener, Bonnie Runyan, Clark Templin, Lillian Thompson, Russell Vannorsdall and Harry Zimmerman.

The meeting was then opened for any who cared to respond with remarks and comments. Frank R. Thompson, who was principal, and Charles D. Morehead, math teacher and coach, each told of some of the highlights and amusing incidents of their regimes, as well as quite a few members of the class.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Robert

hears reviews

The Busy Bee Garden Club of Jeffersonville met in the home of Mrs. Joe Ferguson. Mrs. Carl Janes presided at the meeting and read the poem, "The Color of Spring."

Cheer cards were signed for ill members and the nominating committee was named to prepare the candidates for new officers for next year.

Mrs. Ruth Williams gave a review of "Once Hopeless Land" and told members that much can be done with rock gardens.

Mrs. Virginia Shoemaker gave the second review of "Plants of the Bible" and named the lily, orchids, Rose of Sharon and the mustard seed.

The members answered roll call with "How I can help with conservation." The club prayer was said in unison for the closing.

A dessert course was served.

Buck, Mrs. Malcolm Hankins, Wayne Shobe, Mrs. Robert West, Mrs. Thomas Willis, Mrs. Kenneth Chaney, Mrs. Hubert Follis, Harry Erick, Walter Orr and Kenneth Crabb.

Coming from the greatest distance was Malcolm Hankins, of Asheville, N.C. Robert Foster had both the most children and the most grandchildren.

Assisting in making the programs, arranging the table decorations of blue and silver, the class colors, and planning the event, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Giebelhouse, were Miss Jane Jefferson, Mrs. Ralph Michael, Robert West, Estle Steele, and many others who were instrumental in finding addresses.

All agreed it was an enjoyable and long to be remembered occasion.

Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crabb (Ethel Bonecutter) of Clarksburg; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Erick (Portia Brownell) of Newark; Mrs. Hubert Follis (Zoe Burnette); Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vollmer (Anna Carr) of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Chaney, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Michael (Ruth Davis), Mr. and Mrs. H. Willis Davis of Marion; Miss Jane Durant, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Giebelhouse, of Washington C. H.; Mrs. Harold Weaver (Gladys Griffith) of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Garrison (Anna Haynes) of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Hankins of Asheville, N.C.; Mr. Fred Hegler of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Presley Caldwell (Wanda Hegler) of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. Dana Hyer, Miss Jane Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert West (Dorothy Lewis), Mr. Augustine McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Orr (Anna Lee McFadden), Mrs. Harry G. H.; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Smith of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. J. Estle Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman Mitchell (Myrtle Steele) of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest M. Ellis (Mabel Sunkel), Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buck (Ruth Tanguary) of Waverly; Mrs. Thomas Willis (Margaret Weller), Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Morehead of New Concord, Ohio.

Association meets with Mrs. Long

The Women's Association of McNair Presbyterian Church met in the home of Mrs. Ted Long Thursday evening. Mrs. Charles Wood conducted devotions and the business session. She also read the names of the missionaries of the day.

Mrs. Bryan Leasure gave a report on the sewing assignment. Several layettes made by the members have been sent to the mission station in Kentucky.

Mrs. Richard Case gave a Bible Study taken from the Book of John.

A silent auction was held at the close of the meeting as a money-making project, and refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Marvin Waddle.

TAKE CRUISE — A week-long cruise to Port-au-Prince and Montego Bay, Kingston and Port Antonio, Jamaica on board the M-S Starward of Norwegian Caribbean Lines was part of a recent Florida vacation for Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kirkpatrick Jr. of New Holland.

Church setting for recital

A special children's recital was given in the sanctuary of First Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. Friday when Mrs. Robert E. Willis presented her young musicians from five to 13 years of age. For many, this was their first appearance in public.

The opening numbers were "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and "God Bless America" presented a choral group. Other special numbers included a trio consisting of Debbie Dickey, Kitten Sagar and Brenda Delay, and soloist Diana Martindale who presented a group of children's songs.

The following played piano solos: David and Susan Alkire, Mary Ragland, Beth and Ellen Evans, Lisa Skaggs, Diana Martindale, Debbie and Douglas Dickey, Brenda Delay, Barry Cupp and Kitten Sagar.

Miss Jennifer Cox was the guest soloist and Miss Susan Wilson was the accompanist.

Pupils who will enter the musicale group for next year are Debbie Dickey,

Mrs. Binegar feted at layette shower

Friends gathered in the home of Karen Helmick, 237 Green St., Friday evening to honor Mrs. John Binegar (Cindy Yake) with a layette shower.

The table was decorated in blue and white with a blue, white and green umbrella as the centerpiece. A cake, decorated in blue and yellow, was served with punch to the guests.

Game prizes were won by Mary Jo Burris and Julie Wolfe, who in turn presented them to Mrs. Binegar.

Invited guests were Mrs. Jenny Lee and Mrs. Dean Yankie, Miss Mary Ann Yankie, and the Misses Debbie Yoho, Nancy Henry, Rita Ankrom, Dianna Grieves, Rhonda Ruth, Ann DelPonte, Pam Stritenberger, Ann Black, Diana Combs, Jane Ann Wackman, Rita Stemple, Jean Ann Enochs, Kathy Saxton, Lenora Slaven, Lois Rodgers, Ima Darling, Jill Willis, Teri Mount, Dianne Sagar, Robin Morris, Mary Jo Burris, Rhonda Cockerill and Julie Wolfe.

Jeanette Rankin dies

CARMEL, Calif. (AP) — Jeannette Rankin, 92, the first woman elected to Congress, who served from 1917 to 1919 and again from 1941 to 1943, died Friday. A Republican and leader in the women's suffrage movement, the congresswoman from Montana was one of 56 members who voted against U.S. entry into World War I. She was also the only member of Congress to vote against declaring war on Japan in World War II.

The first overwater flight in history was made from Cleveland to Cedar Point on August 31, 1910 by Glenn Curtis.

Women start firefighting duties

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The days when residents of suburban Terrace Park referred to their volunteer fire fighters as "firemen" have ended. Six women, five of them married and one a grandmother, Sunday completed ten weeks of training with written examinations and a practice run on the town's fire truck to become members of the fire department.

Until recently two village maintenance crewmen handled fire calls during the day when the 25 to 30 volunteers were at their regular jobs. But the new women members can work the day shift, drive the fire truck, climb ladders, handle the pumps and hoses and do other things firemen are supposed to do.

Three of the women have completed the entire course for certification. The others are to finish soon. Then they'll serve a three-month probationary period and a one-year apprenticeship.

Sunday they tramped around in heavy boots and yellow slickers. They wrestled with the hose and sent one woman up a ladder to hose down the smoke pouring from a second-story window of a condemned building being used for the test.

"Reaction to us probably will be bad," commented one of the firewomen. "At first, they'll think we're unfeminine and showoffs more than anything else."

This is what the women had to say about their new "jobs":

Mimi Matthews said "my dad was in the Madison Place Fire Department when I was a little kid and I grew up wanting to be a part of it."

Ev Peery, supervisor of the women, said "the men in the force give us a lift whenever they can. They don't say, 'you got yourself into this, now get yourself out.'"

Pat Roe said her husband was against the idea but she added, "he'll understand eventually."

Susan Channer said her legs shook the first time she was on a 35-foot ladder and she added, "I think the instructor thought we'd freeze, but everyone was okay."

Roberta Estridge used to live on a tobacco farm and she said, "I figured if I could climb into a high loft and throw down packets of heavy tobacco, I could learn to do this."

Pat Hemm predicted, "they won't appreciate us until they call us."

Reform group wins UMW district vote

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — In what many observers regarded as a smashing victory for United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller, the reformist Miners for Democracy slate registered a clean sweep of the District 17 elections.

U.S. Department of Labor figures indicate Jack Perry won over incumbent District 17 President Joe Ellis by 850 votes. The tally, subject to final verification, showed Perry received 3,423 votes to 2,573 votes for Ellis.

Miller, a native of Cabin Creek in District 17, was elected president of the international union last December on the MFD ticket. Often at odds with Ellis, Miller actively campaigned on behalf of Perry.

Ellis said Sunday night, "Jack Perry didn't defeat me. It was Arnold Miller I was running against."

But Ellis urged a reconciliation between the rival forces. "We've got to forget the past. We're still union men."

SCOPS to tour area horse farms

A tour of Fayette County horse farms will follow the next meeting of the South Central Ohio Preservation Society Inc.

SCOPS members and friends will meet at 2 p.m. next Sunday in the Courthouse, home of the famous Archibald Willard murals. Mrs. Richard Rankin, Ohio 41-N, SCOPS president and horse fancier, will lead the tour of the farms.

The business meeting will include a report by Mrs. Joseph VanMeter, SCOPS coordinator, on the "Scioto River Project", and by Vice President Franklin Conaway on "Restoration Projects".

Urban, rural problems are linked

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the very few statisticians and economists in the Agriculture Department known more for philosophical reflection than for facts, figures and analyses is David E. Brewster.

Although he works for the economic and statistical analysis division of the Economic Research Service, Brewster's job classification is "agricultural historian" and it is in this capacity that he writes about rural-urban relationships.

Brewster's report, one of a series, is in the current issue of Farm Index, a monthly publication of the department. Its title is "Economists in an Urban Age."

It would seem, Brewster begins, that agricultural economists would have a diminished role today, now that fewer than five per cent of the U.S. population are farmers and that 70 per cent of all Americans live on two per cent of the land classified as urban.

"But exactly the reverse is true," says Brewster. "For one thing, our urban and rural sectors are more closely linked than ever before. This means that many problems facing city dwellers have aspects that can't be dealt with in just a metropolitan context."

Brewster offers what he calls "a few salient features of the current urban scene," including these comments:

—"Our cities are falling apart; —"We can't dispose of human wastes in a satisfactory manner; —"We can't dispose of our garbage; —"We need new and improved educational services, airport services, police services, rapid transit services, park and recreation services, and all kinds of housing ..."

Says Brewster: "If that sounds like the big city blues pure and simple, keep in mind that the blues started out as country music. Likewise, the present crisis has its own backwater roots."

NUL leader succumbs

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Julius A. Thomas, 76, a National Urban League administrator for 29 years, died here Sunday.

Cleveland was the point of origin of the first transcontinental air-rail passenger service, inaugurated June 14, 1929.

Maintenance work slated

Mowing, painting and general maintenance projects are on the agenda, this week for city, county and state road crews.

Bill Duncan, acting superintendent of the City Service Department, said crews will continue the striping of streets and will be mowing along highways and alleys. City crews will also be building catch basins and patching streets.

State crews, according to Gene Fitzpatrick, superintendent of the Ohio Department of Highways here, said workmen will be repairing berms on Ohio 734, and U.S. 35-N or Ohio 41-N. Six mowers will be in operation this week along guard rails, and curves will be widened on Ohio 729, north of Jeffersonville. A blacktopping project is planned for the four-lane section of U.S. 35 at the I-71 interchange.

Fire causes $25,000 damage to Cincy cafe

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Fire early today caused an estimated $25,000 damage to the Bo-Mar Cafe about three miles north of downtown Cincinnati.

City Fire Marshal Robert Miller reported that the fire was believed to be arson.

Firemen were called to the cafe at 3:07 a.m.

County workmen, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, will be working on Railroad Street in Jeffersonville, and will be grading and ditching along Zimmerman Road. Other projects in the county include mowing weeds, working on culverts in Jefferson Township and spray-patching county highways.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Prepare your schedule carefully, and be as diligent in carrying out orders as you would expect others to be. Avoid resentments, emotionalism.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Be cautious in making directives and taking others' feelings for granted. Alertness and flexibility of thought will help you to quicker, safer conclusions.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Your efforts now MUST have sound, intelligent purpose or havoc will reign. Plan well, then step forward — but carefully — so as neither to overstep nor fall short of the mark.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Withdraw from any situation if you believe that your efforts are not effective or that someone else should take the final stand. Fair play for all will net top rewards.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Avoid procrastinating in matters which, while not pressing, should be handled before they clutter your program. Don't waste precious moments in daydreaming.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Mixed influences. Do not get into controversy that will only lead to chaos, but do discuss matters calmly. You CAN reach happy solutions.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Gains from past efforts indicated. Also, recognition for a long-forgotten favor bestowed. Creative pursuits highly favored.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Control emotions now. There will be tendencies to exaggerate, to lose temper. Be especially tactful in dealings with marriage or business partners.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Generous stellar influences. This should be a good day for superior work performance and other gainful endeavors. Avoid tensions and distractions, however.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Aspects just so-so. It will be largely up to you whether the day turns out satisfactorily or otherwise. Use discretion in all matters. Don't rely on guess work — be SURE.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Make time count now. Whether handling large or small matters, don't be sidetracked by nonessentials. This is the time to advance a new idea which could benefit many.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Handle your schedule efficiently but give yourself time for investigation, observation of flaws in method. Some revisions may be necessary.

YOU BORN TODAY have an alert, inquiring mind; are usually physically dexterous, too. However, your temperament, at times, is too explosive for stability, so you MUST learn to control nerves and temper. You are an idealist, a deep thinker, and are endowed with the talents required to succeed in music, painting and writing. You are usually working on several things at one time, if you do not take up one of the arts as a career, you will almost surely take up one as a hobby or an avocation. Clever and ingenious, you would make an excellent inventor, scientist or engineer. If you choose business as a career, your best field would be real estate.

Living costs

worry most

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Americans have become more concerned with the high cost of living than with the war in Southeast Asia, according to the Gallup Poll.

The poll also reported that the issue of corruption in government, specifically the Watergate affair, has become a matter of concern to 16 per cent of those polled, compared to one per cent in mid-February.

The 1,531 adults interviewed May 4-6 were asked to name the nation's two most important problems.

Sixty-two per cent named the high cost of living, with crime the second

Stationed in Hawaii

Petty Officer Michael Thacker, a Navy nuclear engineer, is stationed in Honolulu, Hawaii. A 1968 graduate of Miami Trace High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thacker, of Bloomingburg.

In honor wing

Capt. Castner R. Waddell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean M. Waddell of Greenfield, is a member of the Military Airlift Command's global 9th Weather Reconnaissance Wing which has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Wing personnel were cited for outstanding performance and professionalism in conducting a variety of specialized missions which included reconnaissance of satellite launch and recovery areas and flying through hurricanes and typhoons to gather vital weather data. The 9th compiled an "unequalled maintenance evaluation score" and an unblemished safety record while meeting all worldwide requirements.

The captain, who has served in Vietnam and is stationed at Kirtland AFB, N.M., will wear a distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the unit. Capt. Waddell, married to the former Miss Anne Blue, of Cape Girardeau, Mo., is a graduate of McClain High School.

choice at 17 per cent. Governmental corruption and drugs followed with 16 per cent each.

Only seven per cent of those surveyed named the "Southeast Asia situation" as the major concern. According to a Gallup poll conducted in late January, the war was considered the major concern by 35 per cent of the public.

Scioto Presbytery has new executive

The Rev. Hugh Bean Evans, of Worthington, was elected executive presbyter of the Presbytery of the Scioto Valley at a meeting in the First Presbyterian Church, Circleville. A total of 250 pastors and elders attended the meeting, including the Rev. Gerald Wheat and Elder Harry Heironimus of the First Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Wilbur Bullock and Elder Marvin Waddle of McNair Presbyterian Church in Washington C. H.

Rev. Mr. Evans will fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Rev. Arthur M. Romig, which is effective June 30.

Speaking of Mr. Evans, Rev. Mr. Romig said, "His personal, enabling style of leadership will help coordinate the resources of Presbytery of the Scioto Valley to implement programs in congregations as well as mission units."

In other action, two church elders, Harold Whitefield, of Circleville, and E. M. Hall, of Greenfield, were appointed Synod commissioners.

Ohio Perspective

State open meetings bill pushed

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill pending in the state legislature could be "a step" toward restoring public confidence in government, its Republican sponsors say.

It would toughen Ohio's open meetings law, taking out of the code a section that prohibits public officials from making decisions behind closed doors.

House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, explained that the bill would toughen the law by eliminating any reference to closed meetings.

Presently, the law says "no resolution, rule, regulation, or formal action of any kind shall be adopted at any executive session of any . . . board, commission, agency, or authority." All that language would be eliminated and the remaining words would simply declare "all public meetings shall be open to the public at all times."

Kurfess said he does not think it was the intent of the legislature, which enacted the law in 1954, to provide for closed sessions. However, he said there have been attorney general's opinions holding that the language in question, while prohibiting executive decisions, does provide for them.

Kurfess conceded that "there is no way you can prevent the members of a board or commission from getting together informally." But he said "this bill should be passed to keep the public up to date on public business as much as possible."

He added: "Anything we do which gives rise to our opening up public business is a step in the direction of restoring the public's confidence in government."

The bill, which is co-sponsored by

West Virginia will boost air and road patrols

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Air surveillance and motor patrols of the state's most heavily traveled highways will begin by mid-summer, according to the West Virginia Department of Public Safety.

The state has one $160,000 Bell Jet Ranger helicopter already in use for traffic patrols and is expected to receive two more next week. The department eventually hopes to establish statewide a series of helicopter pads adjacent to major highways to aid in giving accident victims medical treatment as soon as possible.

The air surveillance will begin once the highways are "striped" to allow the airborne troopers to clock the motorists.

Supt. R.L. Bonar said the department of highways will do the striping at a cost of about $8,000.

The air patrols will take place on Interstates 64, 70, 77, 79 and 81, as well as U.S. 50 between Parkersburg and Clarksburg and U.S. 35 between St. Albans and Point Pleasant.

In addition, 24 men will be assigned to patrol the interstates to assist stranded motorists and enforce the driving laws, Bonar said.

Rain, near-tragedy mar weekend collector show

The collector show and flea market at the Fairground over the weekend was marred by sporadic rains and near tragedy when an ambulance was called to take five persons to Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Two Midland residents and three persons from Dayton had been burning a makeshift charcoal heater in a tent Saturday night when they were overcome by carbon monoxide. They were taken by ambulance to the hospital where they were treated and released.

There was a large turnout despite the weather, but trading was difficult for those outside who were constantly covering and uncovering their wares. It was estimated by Kenneth Craig, president of the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association, that 700 stations had been set up and that more than 4,000 persons attended the show.

A Greenfield man won the competition for the best muzzle-loading Remington revolver with his 44 caliber weapon the type used in the Civil War. Although more than 100 years old, it was in mint condition.

Postal Service to auction trucks

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans who want a truck expected—if not guaranteed—to handle hail, sleet, rain and snow should show up Friday for the U.S. Postal Service auction.

The post office is putting 71 large postal trucks and vans on the auction block to make room for new vehicles in the fleet. The trucks, ranging in age back to 1967 models, are being auctioned to make room for new vehicles in the postal fleet, officials said.

The post office said the vehicles' conditions range from good to inoperative.

Kurfess and Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, has the backing of the Ohio Newspaper Association. In an attempt to get it passed by the House Reference Committee, the ONA's executive director, William J. Oertel, wrote to Rep. Claude Fiocca, D-40 Akron, chairman of the Reference Committee which refers bills to standing committees.

Oertel's letter said in part: "In a democracy, it is important that the people not only know the results of action by public bodies, but the discussion and consideration that led up to the final action and vote."

Fiocca, whose committee still has referred only about 40 to 50 per cent of the nearly 1,000 bills before it, said he has had "no pressure either way to refer it to a committee."

But he said, "The bill will be considered. Among other things, we want to see what laws there are in other states."

Fiocca's committee has had the measure since it was introduced by Morris Jan. 31.

Consumer price index data grim

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Every month the government dumps 120,000 prices into a computer and comes up with a package of figures watched closely by housewives, union leaders and pensioners.

CPI, for Consumer Price Index, is a monthly measure of inflation, a vital economic indicator showing price trends for food, clothing, housing, health care, transportation and recreation—virtually everything people buy.

Not only is the information useful to housewives in planning family budgets, but also to labor leaders in drawing up new contracts. To pensioners it could mean higher incomes, and to divorcees bigger alimony payments.

The next report, on April's living costs, is due Tuesday.

The rise or fall in the cost of living is computed by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics from information sent in by 240 men and women in 56 cities across the country. These part-time government workers roam through 18,000 retail stores and service establishments, checking prices on 400 items.

Mailed questionnaires are used to collect figures on apartment rents, bus fares, utility rates, newspaper prices and other items not requiring personal visits. Housing costs, college tuition and used-car prices are collected by other government agencies.

All totaled, information on 120,000 individual prices pours into the bureau where it is sifted by government clerks, statisticians and economists. Fed into a computer, the data emerges as the Consumer Price Index.

The bureau has been compiling the living-cost reports since 1913, periodically updating the items sampled to account for changing spending patterns and new products. The latest revision was completed in 1964. Janet Norwood, the bureau's associate deputy commissioner, claims the index has no more than .1 per cent error.

For the first three months of the year, the index has shown a sharp rise in prices at a seasonally adjusted rate of 8.8 per cent, the worst inflation in 22 years.

The March index for all items showed a climb of 1.2 index points from February, up from 128.6 to 129.8. This represented a rise of .9 per cent for the month.

The index figure, based on 1967 prices, means it took $129.80 in March to pay for the same "market basket" of typical family goods and services that cost $100 six years ago.

A companion report, based on industry payroll figures, shows average weekly wages for some 58 million rank-and-file workers and how they are faring against inflation. The March report said the average weekly wage of $140.23 was up 7.13 cents, but down 12 cents in purchasing power from the previous month because of inflation. The average wage was up $8.13 over the year, but represented only a $1.51 increase in purchasing power.

13 persons die on Ohio highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Ohio Highway Patrol reported 13 persons were killed on the state's highways during the weekend.

The patrol keeps a count of traffic deaths from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

The 13 deaths compared with 14 a week earlier. Law enforcement agencies are bracing for a much higher toll next weekend, which includes the Memorial Day holiday.

The dead:

FRIDAY NIGHT
GREENVILLE — William E. Clogher, Versailles, was struck by a car while he was riding his motorcycle on Ohio 121 in Darke County.

NEWARK — Douglas Wright, 16, Newark, in a two-car accident on Maple Avenue in Newark.

XENIA — Shirley M. Walker, 39, Spring Valley, in a one-car mishap on Ohio 275 in Greene County.

Search continues for 2 jail escapees

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP) — Search continued today for two men who escaped Sunday from the Adams County jail here. They were identified as Benjamin Schumacher Jr., 22, charged with breaking and entering and auto larceny, and Ronnie Ernold, 20, charged with breaking and entering.

Both men are from near West Union. Sheriff Louis Fulton said the escapees broke open a storage door, then got through the ceiling to the roof and climbed down a radio tower.

Joan of Arc was burned at the stake at Rouen, France.

SATURDAY

WARREN — Keith A. Strange, 29, Sharon, Pa., when his auto crashed off the Warren-Sharon Road east of Ohio 7 in Trumbull County.

UPPER SANDUSKY — Alice M. Brennan, 60, Avoca, Mich., and Diane Weaver, 15, of Upper Sandusky, in a two-car accident at the intersection of U.S. 23 and Ohio 67 in Wyandot County.

XENIA — Robert Pace, 15, Xenia, when hit by a car while bicycling on Ohio 45 about seven miles south of Xenia.

SUNDAY

CLEVELAND — Daniel E. Steiger Jr., 20, North Olmstead, when the car he was driving left the road and crashed off Interstate 77 in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND — Brenda Chaky, 22, Brunswick, in one-car crash on Interstate 77 in Cleveland.

KENTON — Wilma J. Piper, 18, Kenton, in a one-car accident on Ohio 53 in Hardin County.

CANFIELD — Reinhold Konrad, 24, Canfield, when his car went off U.S. 6 in Ashtabula County.

MARION — Harry Glancy, 50, Mt. Vernon, a pedestrian, when he tried to flag down a car for help on U.S. 36 in Delaware County.

DEERFIELD — Steve W. Cox, 5, Mt. Vernon, hit by a car while crossing U.S. 224 one mile west of Deerfield in Portage County.

Ohio storm damage eyed

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Residents and insurance agents were working today to determine the damage from severe rain and wind storms which hit Ross and Morgan townships Saturday evening.

The storms also hit other parts of southwestern Ohio, but the heaviest damage apparently was in the two Butler County townships.

There were several reports of funnel clouds in the area.

One was reported at Dan Hengehold farm on Ohio 126. The farm is operated by Jerry Jones, who said he and his family took shelter in the basement and were unhurt. The wind flattened a large barn and silo and twisted another barn off its foundation.

Reds manage twinbill split

Problems still plague Cincy pitching corps

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds managed to get an even split in Sunday's doubleheader with the San Diego Padres, but their pitching problems still are around.

Gary Nolan is still in Florida trying to correct an arm ailment. Roger Nelson, was scheduled to pitch against the Padres Sunday, but was scratched because of an ailing elbow. And Ross Grimsley, a 2-1 loser to San Diego Sunday, has lost three of his last four games.

Manager Sparky Anderson insists Nelson's ailment is "nothing," and added "we just don't need him now."

But Anderson has had to move Clay Carroll into a starting spot and that depletes the bullpen although Carroll has been considerably less than a ball of fire as a reliever this year.

As to Grimsley, Anderson said, "He was throwing better today but they still hit him hard."

Don Gullett built his record to 5-2 Sunday as he won the second game of the double bill, 3-2, although he had to have help from Pedro Borbon and Tom Hall with two out in the ninth.

The Padres, however, got some pitching encouragement from the first game. Fred Norman won his first game of the season after losing five straight, but Anderson blamed bunts for the loss. Two of them set it up for the Padres to score two runs in the seventh inning when Grimsley was nursing a 1-0 lead.

San Diego manager Don Zimmer

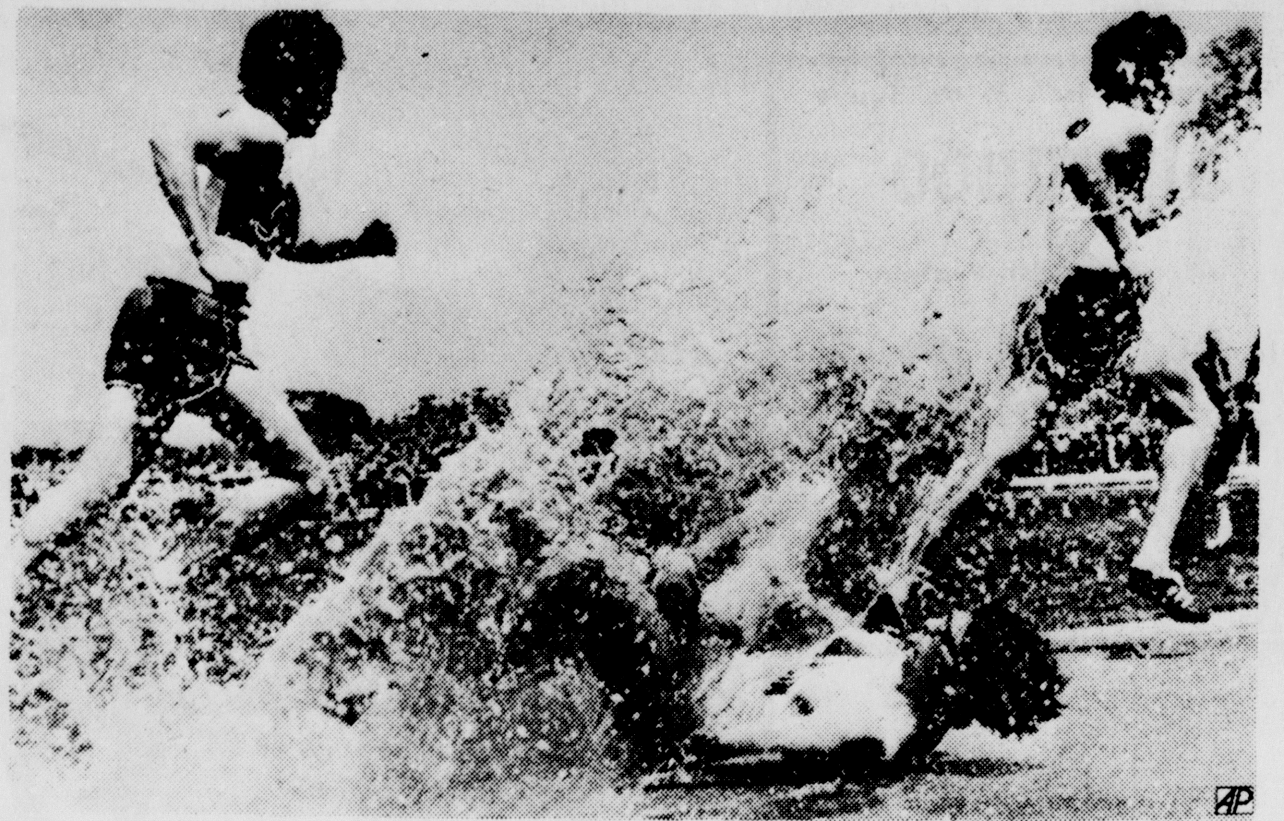

said he told Norman to stick with his fast ball and not to shake off any pitching calls by catcher Fred Kendall.

The Reds fell behind 2-0 in the second game, but some long hits let them pull that game out of the fire.

A safe bunt and then doubles by Johnny Bench and Tony Perez, grouped with an error, enabled Cincinnati to tie the score in the fourth and Perez wrapped it up with his sixth home run of the season in the seventh.

Both the Reds and San Diego were idle today and Houston moves in here Tuesday night to start a two-game series. The Astros, leading the National League's Western Division, are two games ahead of the thirdplace Reds.

Carroll is due to pitch for Cincinnati Tuesday against Dave Roberts of the Astros.

TIME OUT AT WATER HOLE — While two other runners in the Big Ten track meet's 3,000-meter steeplechase continue on their way, a third man goes down in the water in Minneapolis, Minn.

Streaking Astros nab top spot in NL West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A funny thing happened to the San Francisco Giants' annual June swoon this year...it began in May.

On May 1, the Giants had an 18-6 record and a four-game lead over the Cincinnati Reds and Houston Astros in the National League West. Since that time, they've dropped 11 of 19 games, including Sunday's 8-7 loss to the streaking Astros, and trail Houston, which has won 21 of 28, by one game.

Elsewhere, the Reds split with San Diego, losing 2-1 then winning 3-2, and Los Angeles did the same with Atlanta, losing 3-2 in 10 innings and taking the nightcap 8-3. That left the Reds two games out and the Dodgers 2½ back.

In the East Division, Montreal beat St. Louis 4-1 but lost the second game 7-3 while Chicago-Philadelphia and Pittsburgh-New York were rained out.

While Manager Leo Durocher's Astros lead the West, his ex-club, Chicago, tops the East. It could be an interesting October, and it certainly should be a hectic stretch run in the wild, wild West, where Durocher once piloted the Giants and Dodgers and played for the Reds.

Tony Perez homered, doubled and drove in two runs as the Reds rallied against San Diego for a split of their doubleheader. Don Gullett limited the Padres to single runs in the first two innings, then pitched shutout ball the rest of the way, with last-out help from Tom Hall.

San Diego's Fred Norman, winning and going the distance for the first time this season in the opener, allowed only six hits and retired the final 14 batters.

Hank Aaron's 10th-inning single drove home the winning run and gave knuckleballer Phil Niekro, who pitched a three-hitter, his 100th career victory as Atlanta edged Los Angeles in their opener. The Dodgers gained a split in the nightcap behind Al Downing's three-hit pitching, a three-run homer by Ron Cey and a two-run shot by Joe Ferguson.

Rookie Ken Reitz clouted a three-run homer in the second inning and scored on Lou Brock's sacrifice fly in the fourth, leading St. Louis over Montreal in their second game. The Expos snapped the Cardinals' three-game winning streak in the opener as Bob Bailey hit a two-run homer and Ken Singleton drove in the other two runs with a double and sacrifice fly against Bob Gibson, 2-5.

Snider, McElreath complete speedy field for Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — George Snider and Jim McElreath got last-minute positions and Sam Posey got the boot Sunday as a field of 33 starters was completed for the Memorial Day Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Snider, 32, of Bakersfield, Calif., got his chance to make the lineup when his long time friend, A.J. Foyt, gave him a ride in his backup Gilmore Racing Team Special only two minutes before the shutdown time.

Snider, a nine-year veteran at Indianapolis, responded by cranking out four laps at an average speed of 190.355 miles per hour, fastest of the final round of qualifying and good for the 30th position in the field.

McElreath, a 44-year-old from

Arlington, Tex., already had packed his bags and was ready to head back to his ranch when he was offered a trial in Posey's backup Norris Eagle.

It was the next-to-last qualifying attempt of the day—Snider's was to be the last—and McElreath made the most of it. Despite having had no practice time in the car and with benefit of only one warmup lap, he put together four trips at 189.640 m.p.h., earning the last spot in the lineup.

Posey, a graduate of the road racing ranks, had qualified his No. 34 Norris Eagle on the first day of trials May 12, but at the slowest speed of any of the starters, 187.921 m.p.h.

He was first among the initial qualifiers on the bump list after the last three positions were filled. Then, when McElreath made the deal, Posey was left like a sitting duck for Snider's shutdown.

With Sunday's final trials, the field now will have only one more session on the track before the noon EDT start on May 28. They will participate in a four-hour session of "carburetion" runs next Thursday.

The qualifying speeds ranged from Johnny Rutherford's 10-mile run at 198.413 m.p.h., giving him the pole position, to McElreath's 188.640, slowest in the field.

The average of the 33 starters, however, was 192.329 m.p.h.—about 8½ miles faster than last year.

Washington C. H. speed merchant Brian Storm earned his second consecutive berth in the Ohio high school Class AA track meet by turning a pair of winning performances in the Central District track meet held Saturday afternoon at Columbus Walnut Ridge High School.

Storm, a senior sprinter, nabbed victories in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes at Saturday's district meet to win a berth this weekend's state track meet at Ohio State University.

The Washington C.H. star was clocked at 10.1 in the 100-yard dash and defeated defending state champion of Larry Jackson, of Mifflin, who was second. Storm turned in a 22.8 performance in the 220-yard dash to beat Jackson, the defending district 220 king. Storm placed second to Jackson in both events at the district meet last spring.

The district meet, held under nearly deplorable weather conditions, was a disappointment to Washington C. H. senior distance ace Bob Osborne.

OSBORNE, who won the 880-yard run at the district meet a year ago to gain a spot in the state track meet along with Bob Self and Storm, finished fifth in a speedy field.

But, Osborne established a new Washington C. H. school record with a 2:00.8 performance, shattering a record he set last year at the district meet. The winners of the 880 were clocked in 1:58.2 and 1:58.4 respectively and both were from Mt. Gilead.

Stewart wins Grand Prix in Belgium

ZOLDER, Belgium (AP) — Scotland's Jackie Stewart was the first to protest and the first to finish in Sunday's Belgian Grand Prix.

Stewart, the "safety man" among the world's grand prix drivers, led the protest that almost led to cancellation of the race because of a poor track surface.

But when the race was over, on a track still breaking up on critical corners, it was the experienced Stewart, twice world champion, who posted his 24th grand prix victory.

Stewart, driving a Tyrrell Ford at an average speed of 107.73 miles per hour, toured the Zolder circuit in 1 hour, 42 minutes and 13.43 seconds.

"I am particularly delighted because I have equalled the 24 wins of Argentina's Juan Manuel Fangio," Stewart said of the late five-time world champion. "I was a big fan of his."

Stewart added that the loose track surface which the racers had complained about meant "I had to drive very precisely. I had to stay on the exact line through the corner. If you went off the line, you crashed."

Eight of the 23 starters in the race crashed on the same short series of corners. None was injured.

Minnesota Gophers win baseball crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota Gophers, staging a great comeback to win the Big Ten baseball crown, now aim for the NCAA championship.

The Gophers swept a doubleheader from Illinois 7-6 and 10-3 Saturday to storm to the conference championship after getting off to a slow start in splitting their first eight games. The double victory over Illinois ran Minnesota's conference string to 10 victories.

their performance in the district track meet.

Head coach Chuck Wallace's Panther spikers, who were shutout in the district meet a year ago, placed 12th in a 15-team field in the combined Class AAA Southeastern and Eastern District meet held at Lancaster under poor weather conditions.

Junior Dave Steinhauer and senior Dan Coe were the only Miami Trace tracksters placing in the meet. Steinhauer leaped five feet, eight inches in the high jump for a fourth place finish and Coe vaulted 11 feet and placed fifth.

Groves turns in big round

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Steve Groves of Ohio State, who looks very much like his golfing idol Jack Nicklaus, stole the show at the 54th Big Ten golf championship Friday and Saturday.

Groves, a chubby, blond senior, took medalist honors with a 76-hole total of 289 to share the spotlight with Indiana University, the team title winner on the Purdue University North Course.

Indiana took 1,484 strokes to win the team title by eight strokes over Ohio State. The Buckeyes took 1,452 strokes, followed by Illinois 1,497, host Purdue 1,501, Michigan State 1,517, Minnesota and Michigan, 1,520 each, Iowa 1,531, Wisconsin 1,575 and Northwestern 1,674.

Groves had to fight off the cold and

Junior Chuck Wilson was eliminated in the preliminaries of the long jump, leaping 19 feet, eight inches and the Blue Lions' 880 and mile relay teams were also ousted before the finals. Members of the 880 relay team were Jeff Willis, Kevin Terry, Tom Allen and David Payton and members of the mile relay team were Gene Lyons, Kevin Merritt, Payton and Osborne.

Mt. Gilead won the meet with 62 points, followed by Columbus Mohawk with 53 and Bexley and Columbus DeSales with 52 points apiece. Second-year head coach John Armstrong's Blue Lion thinclads had 22 points.

Running prelims and field events in the state track meet start at 2 p.m. Friday. Saturday's program starts at 9 a.m. with the finals of the field events, with the exception of the pole vault and high jump with a 1 p.m. schedule for the other finals.

The heats committee for the state track meet will meet at 1 p.m. Thursday at the Ohio High School Athletic Association office.

three times because of lightning and the 880-yard run was held in a down-pour.

Sophomore Ron Warnock placed seventh in the shot put and senior Gardner Cobb was seventh in the 880-yard run. Ernie Perry placed tenth in the two-mile run.

Always-tough Lancaster won the meet, followed in order by Athens, Dover, Steubenville, Chillicothe, Logan, Marietta, East Liverpool, Zanesville, Wintersville, Jackson, Miami Trace, Cambridge, Meigs and Portsmouth.

Only the winner in each event at the Class AAA district meet advances to the state track meet Saturday at Ohio State.

blustery weather and a challenge by individual runnerup John Harris of Minnesota, who fell two strokes off the pace. The big hole was the 16th on the final round on which Groves took a birdie while Harris left himself 25 feet from the hole with a bad wedge shot and fell two strokes back with a par.

Groves said, "My game peaked for this tournament. My putting and chipping did it for me. This morning, for example, on the first nine, I hit only two greens in regulation but still shot (a par) 35. I lagged the ball well and was making four and five footers all day."

He is the first Buckeye to win the individual title since Nicklaus did it in 1961. Groves shot rounds of 69, 75, 72 and 73 to come in five over par for the tournament.

Colorful Dave Hill bags Memphis loot

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "I didn't think I could win," Dave Hill said. "I didn't think my nerves would let me win."

"In one ten thousandth of a second I can think of more ways to miss a two-foot putt than there are ways to miss it. But I think that way just because I've been playing bad."

The colorful, controversial veteran, who said his game was "held together by baling wire," missed a two-foot putt on the final hole but his final round 72 was good enough to beat back the challenges of Lee Trevino and a flock of others Sunday in the final round of the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

Hill won it with a 283 total, five-under-par on the hot and sunny 7,193-yard Colonial Country Club course. His total was one better than Trevino, who had a final 70, and Allen Miller, who finished with a 69.

It was Hill's first victory of the year and the fourth of his stormy, 15-year career in this tournament. He previously won in 1967, 1969 and 1970 when the event was played on an older, shorter course.

Trevino, the 1971 and 1972 winner, made a gallant but futile attempt to overtake Hill on the final hole.

Still, he had a major consolation. He picked up $16,187.50 from the total purse of $175,000—enough to boost him past the $1 million mark in career

Secretariat wins Preakness; goes after Belmont June 9

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretariat has set two records this year, and he may have been deprived of a third. The Meadow Stable colt, who was syndicated for a record $6,080,000, and then ran the fastest Kentucky Derby in history, went after another mark in Saturday's Preakness at Pimlico.

SECRETARIAT WINS — Secretariat, with Ron Turcotte, has the lead over Sham, ridden by Laffit Pincay, as Secretariat wins the 98th Preakness Stakes at Pimlico in Baltimore, Md.

electric timer, the third best time in history. But shortly after completion of the 1 3-16 mile classic, the Daily Racing Form reported that two of its veteran clockers, Frank Robinson and Gene Schwartz, had timed Secretariat in 1:53 2-5.

That would have shattered the 1:54 record of Canonero II, set in 1971, and also bettered Nashua's 1:54 3-5 of 1955. Secretariat's trainer, Lucien Laurin, said he would request a review of the time, but it was doubtful that any adjustment would be made even though Pimlico's official clocker timed the race in 1:54 2-5.

Charles J. "Chick" Lang, Pimlico's general manager, said his investigation of the matter Monday would include a talk with E.T. McLean Jr., the official timer.

McLean, who times the race with a stopwatch in case the electric device malfunctions, can report discrepancies but he failed to inform the stewards of his two-fifths difference Saturday before the time became official.

Regardless of the time, Secretariat took a giant step toward becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Citation in 1948 by winning the race which Laurin said he feared most.

With $805,122 in earnings after winning 11 of 14 career starts, Secretariat can become the ninth Triple Crown champion by winning the Belmont Stakes on June 9.

When Secretariat, Sham and Our Native crossed the finish line Saturday, it marked the first time in history that the Derby order of finish had been duplicated in the Preakness.

Paul Newman finishes 3rd in auto race

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Actor Paul Newman finished third in a 14-car field in the running of a B-sedan automobile race at Nelson Ledges auto track's Cumberland Nationals Sunday.

National champion Bob Sharp of Wilton, Conn., took first in the event, driving the 40-mile event in 31.04.5. Roger Koch of Columbus finished second.

Opening lead - jack of spades.
This deal occurred in the U.S.-Switzerland match in 1968.
When Jordan-Robinson were North-South for the U.S., the bidding went as shown. Four clubs was Gerber, asking for aces, and four spades showed two; five clubs asked for kings and five hearts showed one.

With all the aces and kings accounted for, Jordan bid seven notrump, hoping his diamonds would produce the extra tricks needed for the grand slam.
Exercising his customary wizardry over the cards, Robinson proceeded to make the contract despite the 3-1 diamond break. After winning the spade lead and before tackling the key suit, diamonds, he cashed all his spades, hearts and clubs.
As a result, Robinson learned that West had started the hand with three spades, three hearts and six clubs - and therefore could not have more than one diamond.
Accordingly, Robinson cashed dummy's king of diamonds and continued with a diamond, finessing the ten after East had followed low. The finesse succeeded, of course, and he scored 2,220 points on the deal.
At the other table, the Swiss North-South pair stopped at six notrump, but because declarer could not afford to jeopardize the slam by first cashing the three side suits, he wound up making only six when he played the A-K of diamonds early in the hand.
It is interesting to note that seven diamonds would have gone down one with normal play. Only at seven notrump can declarer afford to test the side suits in order to shed light on the diamonds.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Obesity, Girdles, Panty Hose

My married daughter is about 40 pounds overweight. One day while visiting her I watched her put on her girdle.
While she was pushing in layer after layer of fat she became breathless and her eyes almost popped.
She was furious when I told her that obesity was affecting her health.
Mrs. R. E. W., R. I.
Dear Mrs. W.:
You are right in believing that your daughter's 40 pounds of excess weight is injurious to her health.
You are also correct in your observation that the tight girdle may be putting pressures on vital organs and producing symptoms of compression, while merely re-arranging the position of the fat.
Dr. Paul Dudley White, the eminent heart specialist, wrote a wisdom-filled article in the New England Journal of Medicine. "During the last year or two," he said, "I have become acquainted with the tight girdle syndrome, which has fascinated me."
"It arises from the attempts of a rather stout woman to contain herself within some bounds of shapeliness."
Dr. White noted that some patients showed a very active pulsation in the neck which he could not account for because the patient's general condition was excellent, but that the pulsations stopped when a tight girdle was loosened.

He also found that these same patients breathed more easily and felt less "choked up" when the girdle was loosened.
His second interesting observation was that a tight girdle "displaced the diaphragm, the stomach, and esophagus, and caused a variety of symptoms like heartburn and gassy fullness."
His third observation actually showed that when the diaphragm is pushed up, the heart can be displaced from its normal position and that can interfere with its function and with the normal function of the lungs.
Dr. White concluded that "the tight-girdle syndrome is doubtless a residual of the popularity of the wasp waist stylish a couple of generations ago, as pictured in fashion magazines of the epoch."
"Perhaps now that women have been liberated they may also be free of the feeling that they need tight girdles."
Readers, please note: I am told on good authority that panty hose have almost entirely replaced the girdle.

ATTENTION!
MOBILE HOME DEVELOPERS
89 ACRES - WILMINGTON -
CITY WATER

MOBILE HOME PARK DEVELOPERS — One of the most desirable tracts of development land in Southwestern Ohio within one-half mile of Wilmington city limits in Wilmington School District, fronting on state highway 730 with city water running along the entire frontage. Mobile homes containing a minimum of 720 sq. ft. have been approved on the 32 lots containing 20,000 sq. ft. each, fronting on State Route 730 by the Wilmington Zoning Commission and the Clinton County Commissioners. The remaining 73½ acres could be rezoned as a mobile home park with the terrain of this portion of land lending itself toward a central sewage system (cavator). Wilmington and Clinton County needs a modern mobile home park and this tract is ideally situated just outside Wilmington toward Lake Cowan. Present owner building downtown commercial real estate and does not have adequate time to develop this subdivision and has decided to sell it at a price developers cannot afford to pass up. Only $1,500.00 per acre. 80 ACRES — Fronting on State Route 68 approximately one mile south of Wilmington with considerable highway frontage. This tract would also lend itself toward a mobile home park. Present owner cannot see any zoning problem, as it is already zoned industrial reserve. $1,000.00 per acre. 153 ACRES — ZONED INDUSTRIAL — B&O SIDING — Fronting on State Route 68 on the west side and on the east by a blacktop county highway. This is the only available land around Wilmington zoned industrial and it can be purchased at the present time for $1,000.00 per acre.

'Special Child' featured topic at 'workshop'

A special education workshop, held Saturday in Hillsboro, was termed "very successful" by Carl Anders, president of the Council for Exceptional Children and special education teacher at Washington Junior High. He said that Fayette County was well represented.

An introduction by Joseph Todd, of the Ohio Department of Education, Division of Special Education, entitled "What is a Special Child?" opened the program and Paula Pierce, a lobbyist for the Ohio Coalition of Handicapped Children, spoke on the bills now before the Ohio House concerning special education.

The group separated to attend seminars which were relevant to their own particular areas of interest. These seminars covered such topics as the mentally retarded, emotionally and physically handicapped, and the very gifted child.

At the close of the workshop, a business meeting was held to elect new officers. Tom Lynch, of Hillsboro, was named president of the Council for next year, replacing Anders who will remain on the executive committee. Mrs. Maynard Dowler, of 320 Ely St., became committee chairwoman for publicity.

Special speakers who conducted the seminars were: Harry Scott, consultant for program development, Division of Special Education, Ohio Department of Education; Jim Lane, educational specialist, Miami Valley Regional Center for Handicapped Children; Ed Comer, director, Brown County Board of Mental Retardation; and Margaret Terry, teacher of fourth and fifth major work classes, Cleveland City School District.

23 accidents reported; 2 hurt

Two persons, one a pedestrian, were injured in a total of 23 traffic accidents investigated by city police and sheriff's departments over the weekend. Property damage amounted to several thousand dollars.

Donald S. Munro, 10, Rt. 1, Bloomington, is reported in satisfactory condition at Memorial Hospital, recovering from injuries suffered when he was struck by a car on Ohio 41-N at Parrott Station Road Saturday evening.

Sheriff's deputies said Munro and his 12-year-old brother were walking on the east side of the highway when the youth ran onto the pavement into the path of a southbound car driven by Alice Griffin, 47, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville.

The boy was knocked onto an embankment on the west side of the roadway, officers said. He was taken to the hospital by ambulance and later admitted.

Mrs. Griffin was not cited in the 6:26 a.m. mishap.

A MOTORCYCLE UPSET on Old Ohio 207, near Waterloo, Sunday evening, injuring the operator, Russell E. Dilley Jr., 17, Rt. 6.

Sheriff's deputies said Dilley was turning his cycle around at the dead end of the road when the rear wheel dropped over a washed-out berm. He gunned the engine and the cycle upset.

He was released after treatment in the emergency room at Memorial Hospital for wrist and knee injuries.

One driver was cited and damage was listed as heavy in a three-car crash at the intersection of Court and North streets at 3:35 p.m. Saturday.

Police reported a car driven by Cheryl A. Everhart, 17, of 431 E. Paint St., was westbound on Court Street when the traffic light changed to red. She attempted to stop but skidded into the intersection and collided broadside with a car driven by James A. Henwell, 33, Grove City. The Henwell car, turning left onto North Street, was shoved into another car driven by Benton E. Park, 58, Jeffersonville, northbound on North Street.

Miss Everhart was cited for a traffic light violation.

BOTH DRIVERS involved in a crash at the intersection of Court and Fayette Streets at 5:33 p.m. Sunday were cited by police.

Terry K. Newman, 26, of 703 John St., was cited for driving while under the influence of alcohol, and Billy E. Stephens, 31, Danville, Ind., was charged with making an improper turn.

Investigating officers said the mishap occurred when the eastbound Stephens car made a left turn onto Fayette Street and pulled into the path of the westbound Newman car.

Both cars were moderately damaged.

Other mishaps investigated were:

SATURDAY
1:16 p.m. — Cars driven by Gary W. Brown, 32, of 820 Columbus Ave., and William H. Sullivan, 49, Lawrenceburg, Ky., were involved in a minor collision at the intersection of Court and Main Streets; damage minor.

1:09 p.m. — Cars driven by Rebecca J. Stockwell, 34, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, and Walter R. Long Jr. 26, Wilmington, were involved in a slight mishap on the Washington Square lot; damage minor.

1:59 p.m. — Cars driven by Barbara A. Jones, 17, Rt. 1, and Jocelyn G. Smalley, 22, of 730 Clinton Ave., collided in the 900 block of Temple St.; damage minor.

6:13 p.m. — Cars driven by John A. Greenzalis, 45, Columbus and Joseph A. Carson, 16, Rt. 1, were involved in a collision on Columbus Ave., just east of Elm Street; damage heavy.

10:30 p.m. — Cars driven by Paul M. Ryder, 56, Pataskala, and Larry F. Pollard, 29, of 324 E. Elm St., collided on Court Street, just west of Main Street; damage moderate.

11:21 p.m. — A minor collision on the Borden Burger lot involving cars driven by Melanie C. Marti, 18, of 512 Columbus Ave., and Donald O. Hapner, 18, Rt. 1, Bloomington; damage slight.

Vandalism, theft reports checked during weekend

Several vandalism and minor theft reports kept local law enforcement agencies busy over the weekend.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Roger D. Wilkerson, 24, of Owensboro, Ky., for petty larceny following a failure to pay incident at Stop 35, I-71 and U.S. 35 Saturday evening.

Officers said Wilkerson had his truck filled with 62 gallons of fuel then went into the restaurant to eat. Station attendants said he returned to the truck a few minutes later and drove away without paying for $20 worth of fuel.

Sheriff's deputies apprehended Wilkerson soon afterward, and he was taken to the county jail where he posted $200 bond.

Police said someone apparently attempted to break into the Lucille Bryant home, 624 Rawlings St., early Saturday morning. Officers, called to the scene to investigate a prowler complaint, found two windows at the rear of the home knocked out and the screen door torn off. They said the intruder had not gained entry to the home.

A collector's knife of "unlimited value" was stolen from a display table in the Mahan Building Sunday afternoon. Sheriff's deputies said Col. Robert Mayes, of Middlesboro, Ky., reported the knife was apparently stolen by a youth who was handling items on the table during the collector show.

Robert Nordin, of 244 Belle Ave., reported a 21-inch television set was stolen from a CCC Highway-E home sometime during the past week. The set was valued at $60.

A window on a DT&I locomotive was knocked out by youths throwing rocks, Leroy Hainer, D.T. & I. yardmaster reported. He told sheriff's deputies the window was knocked out at the McKillip Road crossing, north of Jeffersonville by children throwing rocks at the engine.

Paul Holtschulte, manager of Hunt's Trailer Court, Bloomington, reported that someone had removed a change machine from the laundromat. There was an unknown amount of change removed.

A window at the Dixie Mickle residence, 1036 Willard St., was knocked out Sunday afternoon. Damage was set at $5.

Daryl Hanby Jr., of 901 Washington Ave. reported that 40 gallons of gasoline had been siphoned from the tank of his car at various times during the past six days. The car was parked at his residence at the time.

Baccalaureate rites at MTHS

A full auditorium of parents and friends greeted graduating seniors at Miami Trace High School Sunday night during baccalaureate exercises.

The class of 212 seniors, led by President Glenn Gifford and Vice President Stephan (Muff) Jones, entered the auditorium to the strains of "Grand March" and were seated in the center section.

Following the invocation by Rev. Elmer E. Burrall, of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church and two songs by the Folksingers, the Rev. Gerald R. Wheat, of First Presbyterian Church, gave the Scripture reading and class sermon.

Rev. Mr. Wheat urged the seniors to be useful to society and "not be bums looking for a handout". He told the seniors that most of them had already set the patterns for their lives. He urged them to take stock in themselves and become useful members of society. Rev. Mr. Burrall closed the ceremonies with the benediction.

The first "Buckeye" to fly was Thomas Kirkby, a Cincinnati resident, who went up in a balloon from the "Queen City" to near Williamsburg in Clermont County. He traveled 31 miles in less than an hour on Dec. 15, 1834.
